Secret Parley Drafts Rules For Suez Plan

LONDON (CP)—The organization committee of the Suez Canal Users Association, inaugurated here Monday, met today in secret to continue drafting rules and by-laws.

An authoritative source said the committee's recommendations probably would be submitted to the next plenary session of the association's council, likely to be held Wednesday.

USCA's shipping committee met this morning to continue its examination of the important question of payment of dues by ships passing through the waterway.

LLOYD ON WAY TO SUEZ TALKS

LONDON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd flew to New York Monday night to present Britain's case on the Suez dispute to the United Nations Friday.

Meanwhile, Moscow radio announced today Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and 20 aides are due in New York Wednesday to take part in the Suez debate.

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The 2,270-ton British cargo ship Hendrik went aground in the Suez Canal today, delaying shipping until it was freed about 30 minutes later.

The mishap occurred about 30 miles south of Port Said. A tug dragged the Hendrik clear. It was the first time a ship has gone aground in the canal since Egyptian pilots took over the piloting duties over two weeks ago.

The Hendrik was part of a convoy of 14 ships which left Port Said at 2 a.m. Another nine ships left Port Said about noon and 21 were en route to the Mediterranean from Suez. Passing cargo ships through the canal is a tricky business, and such mishaps were not uncommon when the old international Suez Canal Company pilots were in charge of the operation.

PORT SAID (Reuters)—A Russian pilot took a ship through the Suez Canal unaided for the first time today.

Four Russian pilots, training as pilots under the Egyptian canal authority, wrote their examinations Monday.

Two more American sea captains arrived in Port Said Monday to start training as canal pilots.

16% Boost Looms In Liquor Prices

Distillers Hike Prices to LCB

B.C. hard liquor drinkers can expect price increases of up to 16% per cent shortly.

B.C. Liquor Control Board today was notified of new prices by the House of Seagram and Alberta Distillers Ltd.

Increases quoted average 15 per cent but, because of the federal sales tax paid by the Liquor Control Board, actual increase cost to the board will be 16% per cent. New prices cover all brands, including rye, rum, Scotch and gin.

Amount of the increase to be passed on to the consumer has not been decided.

Board cost accountants are working on the new prices today.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

While only Seagram's and Alberta Distillers have submitted new prices so far, it is expected other major distilleries will follow suit.

If the full distillery price increase is passed on to the consumer, a bottle of hard liquor

Tories Set Date To Name Leader

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative convention to choose a new national leader will be held in the week of Dec. 10 at Ottawa, the party's association executive decided today.

The executive also took formal action in accepting the resignation of Hon. George Drew—eight years to the day since he was chosen leader at the 1948 convention here.

William Rowe, national director of the party, told reporters the first two days of the convention week will be taken up by meetings of committees on policy and other matters. December 12-14, Wednesday to Friday, will be devoted to the actual convention at which some 1,300 delegates will make their choice of a leader.

Westerners Lining Up Behind Diefenbaker

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, veteran Saskatchewan MP, emerged today as the strong favorite to succeed George Drew as national leader of the Conservative party.

Duff Roblin, leader of the Manitoba Progressive Conservatives, will campaign vigorously in support of Mr. Diefenbaker, adding his weight to the "Diefenbaker for leader" bandwagon that is off and rolling with increasing momentum.

Mr. Roblin told The Victoria Times today, just before the national executive meeting of the party opened, that he was supporting Diefenbaker and working for him. Mr. Roblin, who has been mentioned as a possible "dark horse" candidate, said emphatically that he would not be a candidate for the leadership at the party's national convention.

FULTON OUTSIDE
E. Davie Fulton, brilliant young MP from Kamloops, is expected to be in the leadership race but western executive members believe that most of the western support would go to the popular Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Diefenbaker declined comment today on the leadership report.

But he left no doubt in the minds of newspapermen that if the Conservatives make it apparent in no uncertain terms that they want him for the leadership, he will be available.

It was apparent here today that Mr. Diefenbaker was a prime favorite with many Conservative leaders. He will take an early lead in the leadership race, but whether he can hold that lead at the convention remains to be seen.

CAUTION

Conservative MPs and members of the national executive, when pressed for an opinion on the leadership, gave cautious replies. But it appeared that Mr. Diefenbaker will receive considerable support from British Columbia and the three Prairie provinces as well as the Maritimes.

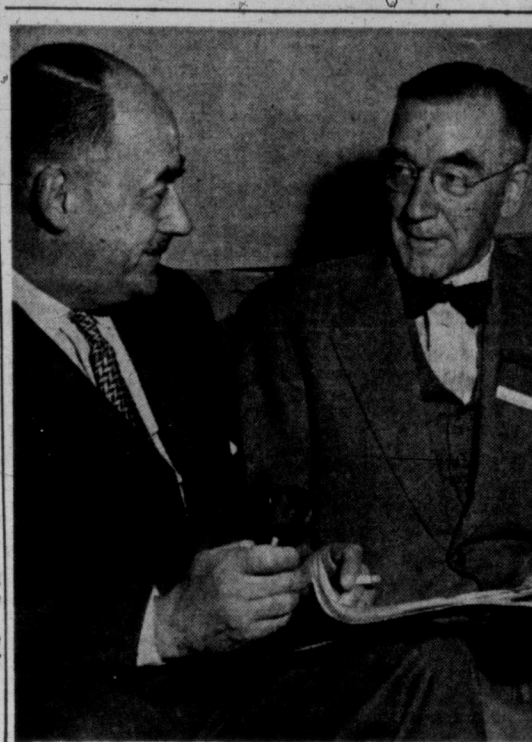

In Ontario there is sharp division over the popularity of Mr. Diefenbaker versus Donald Fleming, MP for Toronto-Eglinton, and George Hees, MP for Toronto Broadview. Quebec delegates were keeping mum at this stage.

Doctors Hit BCHIS Policy on Cortisone

The public and medical profession are entitled to an explanation from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service for continuing restrictions of essential drugs such as cortisone, Dr. Frank Turnbull, chairman of the liaison committee, B.C. division, Canadian Medical Association, said here today.

He told delegates to the division conference here clarification was needed now.

Dr. Turnbull said also the provincial government should make its stand clear on development of such basic services as pathology in hospitals of rapidly-growing communities.

"It is important," he said, "for us to procure statements of policy from the minister and from the deputy ministers."

Apart from these points, Dr. Turnbull said, "our relationships with the government are satisfactory and harmonious."

He spoke on behalf of 1,400 members of the CMA in B.C.

PRINCESS OFF TO ZANZIBAR

'Balderdash, Drivel'
Says Mirror of Tour

LONDON (Reuters)—The tabloid Daily Mirror lashed out at the "bigwigs" who "put their cold, clammy hands on the visit of Princess Margaret to Mauritius."

In an editorial headed "Will They Ever Learn?" the "mass-circulation paper" says: "The princess was on Mauritius for 56 hours. In all that time she spoke to not one single ordinary member of the public except to say thank you for bouquets."

Instead, "local dignitaries were wheeled into place to meet her."

The Mirror asks the tour arrangements: "Nonsense. Balderdash, Drivel."

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius (Reuters)—Princess Margaret today sailed westward across the Indian ocean to the spice-bearing island of Zanzibar, off the East African coast.

Highlight of the farewell scene of her three-day visit to Mauritius was the explosion at three harbor-side points of 15,000 pounds of surplus army cordite, which turned night into day with blinding flashes of light. The royal yacht is due off Zanzibar Friday morning.

New B.C. Road 'Spectacular'

QUEBEC (CP)—More than half the Trans-Canada Highway route now is paved and clearing of a "spectacular" stretch through the mountainous interior of British Columbia will begin next year, the annual convention of Canadian Good Roads Association was told here today.

A progress report on the highway was presented by G. B. Williams, chief engineer of the development engineering branch of the federal public works department.

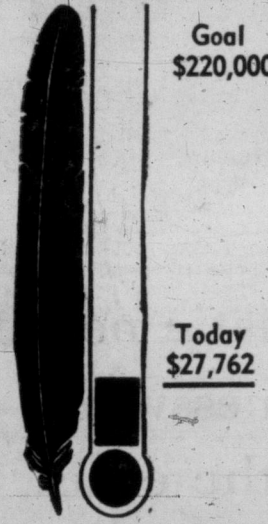

The Rogers Pass route, between Golden and Revelstoke, B.C., now has been designated part of the highway and "will doubtless prove to be one of the most spectacular drives."

Of this 90-mile stretch, some 28 miles to be constructed by the federal government will pass through Glacier National Park and nine miles through Revelstoke National Park. It is planned to start clearing and grubbing next year, with heavy construction the year after.

One of the major problems in this section is avalanche control, he said. Extensive studies of snow and avalanche conditions are under way and research laboratories are being established. Experiments in methods of avalanche control are also being conducted.

Lunatic Passenger, Cabin Fire Haunted B.C. Ship's Jinxed Trip

PORT HARDY (CP)—The grounding of the Union Steamships vessel Cardena Sunday night was the climax of a trip beset by troubles, crew members said today.

An eccentric passenger and a fire were part of the bad luck that jinxed the Cardena on what was to have been the last trip before a winter layover and drydocking.

Today, the Cardena, only "slightly damaged" after being grounded at Duval Point on Vancouver Island's northeast coast, is being towed to Vancouver. Another Union vessel will pick up its passengers, taken off at Port Hardy.

The passenger ran amok early Sunday, smashing furnishings and holding crew members at bay with a curtain rod until they locked him up and set two men guarding his door.

When he became quiet, they opened the door to have a look at him. The man was gone and the porthole was open.

Today, the Cardena, only "slightly damaged" after being grounded at Duval Point on Vancouver Island's northeast coast, is being towed to Vancouver. Another Union vessel will engine room. "Get that nut out of here."

Crew members are still wondering how the man clambered out of the porthole and up the side of the Cardena on to the promenade deck.

The ship stopped at Campbell River where RCMP and a doctor took the man ashore. ... Saturday night, when the Cardena sailed, a smoldering cigarette set a mattress on fire. Crew members, warned by dense smoke in the corridor, were able to put out the fire before serious damage resulted.

The 1,500-ton vessel suffered a few buckled plates and damage to her steering when she grounded late Sunday night. Passengers were taken off by a provincial forestry boat and an RCMP launch which suffered $800 damage when her wooden hull was buffeted against the Cardena's steel plates.

Capt. E. M. Sheppard said he could not talk about circumstances of the mishap. The Cardena is equipped with radar but officers refused to discuss whether it was working.

'Shack-Town' Vote Riles C of C Head

Anti-Incorporation Decision at Langford Regressive Action, Declares Colwood Man

The unorganized territory of Langford, Colwood, View Royal and Glen Lake will never have anything but "shack towns" unless they incorporate, Archie McIntyre, Chamber of Commerce president, said today.

Disappointed by a Colwood and Districts chamber decision Monday night to suspend incorporation planning, he said:

"It is one of the most regressive actions ever taken by any community. They have stultified progress for the next five years at least."

At a meeting of the chamber at Langford Community Hall, a vote was passed to postpone investigations into incorporation for at least six months.

HALF PRESENT

"It was done by a few members of the chamber. Only half the members were present," said the chairman.

He denied earlier reports that "irate residents who wanted to attend were turned away and that occupants of an estimated 40 cars milled around the hall."

"That is a deliberate falsehood," said Mr. McIntyre. "A few came and went away quietly."

He said the main complaint of members opposed to incorporation moves was that the public had been given distorted facts.

"The general idea in people's minds was that the chamber was trying to impose incorporation on the people."

RAISE PETITION

Mr. McIntyre pointed out that all the chamber could do was organize public meetings and attempt to raise a petition. The petition would require signatures of a majority of landowners and would ask the provincial government to conduct a poll.

"They would still have to vote for it," he said.

"Now they have tied our hands. We can't even hold public meetings."

He said the step toward incorporation should have been taken years ago.

"They'll never have anything but shack towns if they keep on the way they are going."

One member of the chamber used Saanich's current difficulties in completing sewer programs as an argument against incorporation.

"That doesn't have to happen here," said Mr. McIntyre. "It could be taken as an object lesson. Past councils in Saanich have tried to do too much in too short a period, with a lack of planning."

LIKE BUSH

"There are still too many people (in the unorganized territories) who are afraid of restrictions. They want to live out-in the bush."

To these he said: "There does not have to be too many restrictions."

"If the people would incorporate they would add prestige, command far more respect" and more people would be willing to move into the area if the services which come with incorporation were available.

Mr. McIntyre said he felt most residents opposed to incorporation were really opposed to paying for the services the district requires. At the same time, he said, no mortgage

Bridge Firm To Increase Size Of B.C. Plants

MONTREAL (CP)—Production capacity of the Dominion Bridge Company's British Columbia plants will be substantially increased under a $20,000,000 four-year expansion program announced today.

The program will include all the company's nine plants and those of six wholly-owned subsidiaries and will increase overall capacity by 40 per cent.

This important development follows several expansion stages which have already taken place during recent years at the company's two Vancouver plants.

At the Burnaby plant, space for structural steel fabrication will be doubled, a newly completed plate shop will be extended, improvements in handling facilities will be made, and a new office building will be erected. At False Creek, Vancouver, the warehouse facilities will be doubled to provide greater service to customers for plain steel requirements.

Other expansion projects in the west include large structural fabrication shop on new property in the Edmonton area and improvement and enlargement of facilities at the existing plant; enlargement and improved handling methods for the recently-erected platework fabricating aisle at Calgary.

REACH FOR A RENNIE

USING SIGN LANGUAGE—Mrs. J. Campbell-Hope, VON nurse (right), instructs Mr. and Mrs. William Thomassen, both deaf mutes, in child care.

ODD CHORES TACKLED BY VON

Community Chest Aids Nurses In Rendering Vital Services

Teaching child-care by sign language is one of the odd chores facing local Victorian Order nurse, Mrs. J. Campbell-Hope.

Because of the complication, she must be especially painstaking in giving instruction to Mr. and Mrs. William Thomassen, 2814 Rock Bay Avenue. Both mother and father are deaf mutes.

VON stepped in to assist Mrs. Thomassen two months ago when her baby son was born. Much of the teaching had to be done with pencil and paper, but now nurse Campbell-Hope finds she can depend on getting her meaning across with her own code of finger and hand movements and facial expression.

The Thomassen family is getting along fine. "They have been very receptive and intelligent," says the nurse. The baby is healthy.

Difficult instruction cases, cases where help is needed but there can be no payment, these are the jobs where Victorian Order of Nurses shine.

The nurses travel from family to family, even on a light day making as many as 22 calls. There are eight nurses and a director in the local unit.

The work is carried out at a charge of $2 for a day call, $2.25 at night, depending on the ability to pay. Much is charity work.

That's why the VON depends on Community Chest for aid. Last year the chest paid $15,350 to the VON and the nurses hope for a bigger assistance grant in 1957. They are looking to Greater Victoria residents to support the current Red Feather drive. Community Chest has 19 member-agencies, seeks to raise $220,000 by the end of this month.

On Monday, Mrs. Angela Geagan, one of the several defence witnesses and wife of defendant Michael Geagan, testified her husband was washing the baby's diapers on Jan. 17, 1950. Mrs.

Negroes Manhandled Off Campus, Pickets Surround Texas College

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Pickets of a newly organized White Citizens' Council hustled two Negro students off the Lamar State College of Technology campus Monday night, and a council spokesman said another 50 would picket and demonstrate at the state-supported school later today.

Police told reporters the Negroes were "pushed and shoved and hustled off the campus."

The Negroes were not injured. Two other Negro students attending classes were advised by officers to go home, and they did. Police escorted them through the crowd.

Some 100 white persons, ranging in age from 30 to 50, arrived at the campus about 7 p.m. and set up a picket line.

Students swelled the crowd to about 500 during the evening. Some 30 police patrolled the campus but made no effort to disperse the pickets.

Mrs. H. T. Mercer, a housewife from Vidor, Tex., a small town just east of Beaumont, said she organized the demonstration, and had organized the council about a week ago.

POZNAN RIOT TRIAL

Flag-Waving Woman Helped Seize Tank

POZNAN, Poland (Reuters)—A prosecution witness told a Poznan court today that he saw a soldier join civilians in a tank they seized during riots in this west Polish industrial city June 28.

Then the tank drove off with 15 armed civilians, including a woman holding a torn, blood-stained Polish flag, the witness, 28-year-old Edward Gomulski, said.

Gomulski said he did not know whether the soldier was forced to get into the tank or went voluntarily.

He was giving evidence at the resumed trial of eight youths and a 35-year-old man accused of stealing arms and attacking security police headquarters during the June riots.

In another court, the trial of three youths charged with the murder of a security policeman is also continuing.

A third trial of six men charged with stealing weapons opens Wednesday, while a fourth trial of 10 men accused of stealing weapons begins Friday.

The trials are likely to run through the whole of October. It was reported today that young prisoners at Pleszew penitentiary, between here and Lodz, staged a demonstration in sympathy with the accused in the Poznan trials.

Quits Her Job and Sails for Hawaiian Holiday

Has $150 a Month For Rest of Her Life

On her 29th birthday, Joan Mason made up her mind that she would have a guaranteed income when she was 50.

She took her problem to a Confederation Life man. He said: "How about $150 a month, at 50, as security if you're single or extra income if you're married?"

It sounded perfect, especially when Joan heard about the total disability benefit. If, due to sickness or accident, she couldn't perform any work for a period of six months or more before she reached 50, Confederation Life would then pay her premiums until she recovered.

So, now, Joan is sailing away to Hawaii—and returning home to $150 a month for life—guaranteed. You, too, can enjoy this kind of thrill! Find out how... today.

Still After a Shuttle Service

EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH A fast ferry service between a Saanich peninsula point and the B.C. mainland have suffered another setback.

Hopes had been entertained that the Union Steamships Ltd. would inaugurate a shuttle service, possibly between Swartz Bay and Steveston. In the words of Capt. W. R. Stacey, chairman of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce harbor committee, that tentative plan "has been shelved, by the look of it."

This is another in a series of disappointments which have plagued the lower Island in its campaign to establish quick, cheap transportation with the mainland.

The campaign will not, however, be abandoned, and negotiations may shortly be resumed with the Union Steamship interests.

While the economics and other details of such a scheme require expert study, a shorter, more frequent haul to and from Victoria seems to offer many advantages.

The major portion of the Island's population is located from Duncan south. This city is by far the largest in the area. It is served by a water route much longer than would be the direct crossing from the end of the peninsula to the mainland.

The alternative is shipment via Nanaimo with a long truck or bus haul at this end.

It seems reasonable to assume that a company, using suitable ships, could ply the shorter run at costs well below those on the existing routes.

No one could be more interested in the development than the merchants, and consuming public, of Victoria. They stand to save in time and expense by the proposed shuttle service. Such economies should be enough to spur the energetic Chamber of Commerce committee to further efforts.

A Growing Giant

CURRENT ESTIMATES OF FUTURE world demand for wood pulp and its derivative products appear to verge on the astronomical.

Canadian pulp production this year is expected to reach a record-breaking 10.4 million tons, with annual increases into the foreseeable future. Newsprint demand is expected to double in the next 25 years. Extension of the use of cellulose to new fields is expected to create new markets. Paper will be used to wrap not only parcels but human beings, as paper "cloths" become more widely used. Already some companies are planning production of paper table and bed "linen."

All of this presages further industry for British Columbia, along with the rest of Canada. To cope with the new business MacMillan & Bloedel is doubling the kraft pulp mill at Port Alberni, adding a new newsprint mill and other facilities. At Duncan Bay, where a newsprint mill was built four years ago, a new kraft mill has just been completed and another newsprint mill is being started by Crown Zellerbach. B.C. Forest Products is building a sulphate pulp mill at Crofton. Other projects, such as the Columbia Cellulose Company's proposed plant near Castlegar, are on the drawing boards.

So great is the planned expansion of plants across Canada, indeed, that experts predict a temporary surplus of pulp if they all come into operation too quickly. But this is not expected to last more than a short time. The growing world demand will rapidly take up the slack and even invite increased supply.

The world has seen few industries mushroom so quickly after a comparatively slow start. For many years the pulp and paper business in Canada was of very modest dimensions. Technical advances which enormously increased the possible uses for pulp, along with rising populations, have sent production soaring within the last couple of decades.

The apparently boundless future of pulp products raises more insistently the question of forest conservation. If this resource is to take an even greater place in our lives, becoming more indispensable in a dozen different fields, then its preservation on a permanent basis becomes increasingly important. Reforestation, whether natural or artificial, becomes a matter not merely of policy but of economic survival.

Against a background of such industrial expansion, the forthcoming report of Chief Justice G. McG. Sloan on the state and future of British Columbia's forests assumes greater importance than ever.

School Behind the Curtain

WESTERN SOCIETY HAS been impressed, and in some cases disturbed, by reports of sweeping advances in Russia's education system. The pace at which the Soviets are turning out graduates engineers, according to some observers, would soon place that country in the forefront of technology and science. The West, it was feared, would be left in a secondary position.

Without discounting those reports, it is interesting to read accounts of education in Latvia, where Russian domination has had an impressive, but not beneficial effect.

Writing for The Christian Science Monitor, Zygmunt Nagorski Jr. states that "the (Latvian) minister of education disclosed a shortage of trained teachers as one of the major weaknesses of the Latvian schools. He said that 39 per cent of the teachers lack vocational and educational training. What he omitted from his report was that imported Soviet teachers, graduates of Soviet teachers' institutes, are on the whole below the recognized Latvian standards. Once appointed, such teachers cannot be replaced without grave risks to the school's superintendent, who might well earn the displeasure of higher authorities for such action."

Quite possibly Russian teachers in Latvian schools are teaching in that satellite country because they could not qualify for appointments in the homeland. If they actually represent the standard of teaching prevailing in Russia, it becomes difficult to understand how Soviet students are equipped for any higher education at all, let alone the exacting courses in science and engineering.

Encouraging Examples

THOSE WHO CONCERN THEMSELVES with efforts to improve the position of native Indians in this province should take heart from the example set by two young women who have enrolled for student nursing courses at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The two, Miss Anna Joseph and Miss Violet Amos, graduates of Kamloops Residential School, are entering a fine profession. They hope that completion of their instruction will equip them to return to work with their people.

It is gratifying to find young people seized with this ambition—particularly in view of the health needs of the Indians. They set a pattern for others. Apart entirely from the dedication to service implicit in nursing, they are showing native young people how to establish greater stature. They are not waiting for someone else to improve their positions. They are doing it themselves.

Well-Earned Honors

THE PRIDE IN WHICH MOST British Columbians hold the province's university lends interest to the announcements of all honorary degrees conferred by the U.B.C. on distinguished figures.

More than ordinary gratification should be shown by the public over the selections for the fall convocation.

Among the recipients will be two men whose contributions to British Columbia have been outstanding. One is W. A. "Billy" McAdam, agent-general in London, the other, Angus MacInnis, veteran CCF Member of Parliament for Vancouver-Kingsway. Others to be honored are men of outstanding record in their particular fields. Their names will add lustre to the roll.

Yet, on more personal grounds, the choice of Mr. McAdam and Mr. MacInnis will have particular significance. Because they have devoted themselves so fully to service to this province, the tribute to be accorded them is not alone from the university but, through the university, from British Columbia.

Rock 'n' Roll Hits Britain

FROM WASHINGTON By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Mr. Dulles' Wavering Aid

IN the unending Suez crisis, the American policy makers are now reaping a bitter harvest of allied anger and ill will. This country's chief world-partners, Britain and France, are feeling emotions and making charges that are without precedent in the last ten years. Thus far, Sir Anthony Eden, Guy Mollet and the other responsible British and French leaders have not voiced their feelings in public. Hence no one in the United States has as yet paid much attention to the severe strain that the Suez crisis is now causing within the Western Alliance. But the strain is there, none the less. And it is worth asking what the trouble has been.

The simplest clue to the trouble is offered by the astonishing history of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' scheme for a Suez canal "Users Association." Its history goes back to the ticklish moment when Egyptian President Gamel Abdel Nasser flatly rejected the first Dulles plan for international management of the canal.

So far as can be judged, Secretary Dulles concluded that the best way to get through this ticklish moment was to keep everyone talking, and so to prevent dangerous decisions from being taken in Paris and London. Both the British and French governments were in fact bracing themselves to take decisions after Nasser sent Australian Prime Minister Menzies home from Cairo with a flea in his ear.

At this juncture and with great urgency, the British and French ambassadors, Sir Roger Makins and Herve Alphand, were called to the State Department to hear about the Users Association. As originally outlined by Secretary Dulles, the new project was very tough indeed.

Organized Boycott

What amounted to an international boycott of Suez was to be organized. It was to be financed by the United States. Reinforcing the boycott with other measures of economic warfare was not excluded. The declared aim was to put all pressure short of war on President Nasser, and so to force him to submit in the end.

Just previously, the American government had backed hastily away from Secretary Dulles' scheme for internationalizing the Suez Canal, as soon as the going got rough in Cairo. Insistent questions were therefore asked, aimed to find out whether the Dulles plan for a Users Association was another American policy proposal subject to change without notice.

It is understood that both Makins and Alphand received strong assurances that Secretary Dulles' intentions were now unshakably firm.

As it happened, a French parliamentary delegation was also in Washington at the time, and was received by Secretary Dulles. For this large group, whose members have of course broadcast the story the Secretary of State put on an imposing display of righteous determination, which strongly undermined his assurances to the British and French governments.

The Suez crisis, Dulles declared, was the most dangerous that the West had encountered, not excluding the Berlin blockade or the attack in Korea, since the end of the Second World War. The whole future of the Western Alliance, he freely admitted, was now at stake.

As for President Nasser, Dulles continued, he was a pattern dictator. If he were not taught his lesson now, Nasser would go on until a much more expensive lesson would have to be taught to him later on. The Users Association, the Secretary promised the parliamentarians, was the instrument that would teach Nasser his lesson without further delay.

High Hopes

In these circumstances, it is not surprising that the hopes of the British and French governments were running very high when Secretary Dulles made his last trip to London.

Opposition to a toughly conceived Users Association had meanwhile been encountered in Scandinavia, Pakistan and elsewhere. But the British and French were convinced that if the United States stood by them, as Secretary Dulles had appeared to promise, the necessary pressure on Nasser could still be organized.

Instead, Secretary Dulles abandoned his own concept of a really tough Users Association within four hours of landing in London. What emerged from the recent London meeting was a pious sham, which deceived no one, least of all President Nasser. In addition, Secretary Dulles himself underlined the phoniness of the London result by announcing that he had no intention of pressing the great majority of American ship-owners, whose vessels fly foreign flags, to co-operate with the Users Association he had himself proposed.

In these circumstances, it is fairly easy to see why the British and French governments think they have been bamboozled. And it is easy to see, too, that the present soreness in Paris and London will put even graver strains on the Western Alliance, in the very likely event that the Middle Eastern situation continues to worsen. Oct. 2, 1896 — At the harvest festival service in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday evening Bishop Perrin dedicated the carved oak retables, pulpit and choir stalls erected as a memorial to Bishop Hills.

Oct. 2, 1916 — Ten zeppelins took part in the raid over England last night. Two of them attempted to attack London. One was driven off and the other destroyed. Most of the bombs fell harmlessly in open country.

Oct. 2, 1936 — The B.C. Government was functioning today with only two of its ministers in their offices — Hart, finance, and Pearson, labor. Nevertheless a cabinet meeting was held and routine orders-in-council passed.

As Our Readers See It

Who Are to Blame?

We should not allow our horror at the events at the Port Alberni Greenwood Cemetery to cloud our perspective, nor our desire for retribution to affect our sense of justice. This desecration was the act of irresponsible adolescents apparently without moral upbringing or religious instruction. To them the act was no more than the crime of students, who in similar outburst of spirits, aided by alcohol, have painted "Stonehenge" green, or decorated the spire of some cathedral with a spectacle designed for the bed-chamber.

They are to be blamed, and perhaps the best penalty for them would be to treat their backsides in the appropriate manner for irresponsible children, and send them home. They should not be handed as hardened criminals, or they are likely to become so.

This raises the whole problem of juvenile delinquency. The lowering of the age of criminal "responsibility" is a retrogressive step. If the parents of delinquents were to be made responsible in law for the misdemeanors of their children, it would be wonderful to see the decrease in the rate of juvenile crime.

Those who have been responsible for the education of these children must also accept their share of the blame. Who can desecrate consciously, who has no knowledge of what is sacred?

The affair of the Greenwood Cemetery should give all of us who are parents food for thought.

KEMBLE GREENWOOD,

Free Press

One must congratulate Ellen Hart on her excellent letter in Monday's Times. One could not agree more regarding the utmost necessity for a free press. One does not feel, however, that there is much danger of this not being so.

Most of the newspapers across the country and in the province seem to feel no necessity to remain silent about anything they may feel is not to the public good, and as we do not actually live under a national dictatorship this fortunate state of affairs is, I think, likely to continue. If one or another newspaper here or there shows evidence of accepting dictation from one or another political party, the good sense of the average individual soon leads him to discount such a paper as being too one-sided.

After all, this is Canada, and the trend is forward towards a wider democracy, even though here and there from time to time we find isolated trends backwards. Movements spring up with a pre-war European direction, but Canada is a very large country and there is not, one feels, much danger of these mushroom growths spreading very far across it. They have their day and are no more.

As for the commentator, Ellen Hart mentions, it really is a waste of time to take him seriously. True, he can be annoying, with his over-emphasis and offence against good taste. Obviously he does not yet understand that good radio commentary is objective and free from propaganda. But in the main he is amusing rather than otherwise. His irate attack on the Times recently reminded one of an angry small boy being very rude because some one has put him in his place. A good many people are finding him very funny these days, which is a good and healthy sign.

For one's own part one cannot sufficiently commend the Times for its broad-minded and impartial coverage of all news and comment, even when the comment is critical of the paper itself. Nowadays, those of us who find one radio station's news coverage somewhat lacking in certain aspects and cannot easily tune in other stations because of poor reception or the too-close proximity to other stations, are very thankful indeed to have the Times to keep us informed.

Pat Bay Problem

Further to the meeting between the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Transport Minister it is suggested that, although air terminal facilities may be inadequate, it would have been much more to the point had a more pressing problem been discussed, viz., the general operations of the airport.

It would appear that the expedience of economics is more important than safety to Government. One of the most flagrant deviations is the use of the airport by elementary (light planes) and advanced (Harvards) training aircraft.

Mr. Nehru and the Press

From The Toronto Globe and Mail

IN contrast to the attitude of high-mindedness and moderation which Prime Minister Nehru presents to the world, his animosity toward the press of India is harsh and unrelenting. The latest expression of his antagonism, the Newspaper Bill, has just been passed by both houses of India's parliament.

Under the guise of protecting freedom of the press, it subjects the newspaper business to a bureaucratic inquisition which cannot be justified in a democratic society. At best it is unwarranted tinkering; far worse, implanted in it are the germs of rigid press control.

Mr. Nehru's first excursion into censorship was the repressive legislation of 1952 which made newspapers criminally liable for the publication of objectionable matter. The definition of what was objectionable was flexible enough to be susceptible to the political interpretation of the government in power.

Storm of Protest

A storm of protest greeted the bill, yet Mr. Nehru persisted in its passage. When its four-year term expired earlier this year, it was allowed to lapse. The more ingenious and less controversial Newspaper Bill was at that time well on the way to becoming law.

The ostensible aim of the new legislation is to eliminate unfair competition among newspapers by regulating their size, price and distribution. There are 330 newspapers in India; fifty-four of them, owned by fifteen publishers, account for 50 per cent of the circulation. According to Mr. Nehru, the smaller papers are placed at such competitive disadvantage that stringent commercial

Anyone with a grain of intelligence will concede that these aircraft in the hands of inexperienced pilots are a menace to passenger aircraft to say nothing of inhabited areas over which they fly.

Add to this the Navy and their obsolete Avengers (an aircraft which taxis blind and like the Harvard has a prohibitive decibel count); RCAF Cansos practising takeoffs and landings on Saanich Inlet, and in so doing cutting across TCA's westerly approach lane; zany owners of private seaplanes who use the Pat Bay Airport and harbor with impunity and impunity; RCAF jets-making fast-low flying passes at the strip presumably to work off animal spirits. These are but a few of the irregularities that require those "long, thoughtful and sympathetic looks" but also followed up by some hard-driving action.

But as the saying goes — "you ain't heard nothin' yet." The RCNRP22 and VU33 may be the thin edge of the wedge at Patricia Bay Airport. It will be recalled that the RCN, evidently perpetuating the traditional woodenheadedness of the Royal Navy, commissioned the building of an aircraft carrier—the Bona Venture. This profligate piece of naval equipment, regarded as quite obsolete by some of our more thoughtful military scientists, may be based at Esquimalt.

It is known that the maintenance index of carrier aircraft is rather high. Conceivably maintenance and repairs would be carried out at Patricia Bay Airport. Furthermore, the high priests of the Navy, might regard the Saanich Inlet as a useful body of water, carrier-wise.

One can draw one's own conclusions as to the fate of not only Patricia Bay Airport but the Saanich Peninsula as a whole. One of the few attractive places in the world in which to live will become an arsenal and military preserve, and also a hell-hole of noise and confusion. There won't be any need to worry about the heavy flow of passengers and baggage at the airport. Tourists will soon catch on that it is another San Diego, Butchart's Gardens notwithstanding.

A Royal Commission to study Canadian aviation is a must.

The New Elizabethans

"Dreams are fading of a new Elizabethan era, a new golden age," says the London Daily Mirror, attributing this blackout to the personal friends of the British Queen.

Claiming the largest daily circulation in the world, the Daily Mirror should explain how yellow journalism attempts to bring to fruition a Golden Age.

According to an article by Lord Halifax in the Christian Science Monitor in 1940, American big business men are to be the new Elizabethan adventurers ushering in our golden age.

As far as this letter-writer is concerned the Americans can have our new Elizabethan era and all our humber and Lord Halifax along with it.

Yellow journalism propagates the pernicious idea that to be staunchly respectable is to be stodgy.

It must be bitterly disappointing to world plotters that the personal friends of the British Queen are so aggravatingly respectable.

G. SHRAPNEL.

'Give 'Er Ten'

I'm tickled to death that the UBC crew is getting enough money to go to the Olympics in Australia.

I think there are several reasons why the oarsmen deserve special consideration. The Varsity achievement at the Empire Games was spectacular. And since it's British Columbia's university outfit, it represents the whole province.

Just the same there's a little nagging question running around in the back of my head. Is it right for the government to chip in $10,000 to send any group of athletes anywhere?

Probably it is, only I haven't quite got my thinking around to the proper place yet. Certainly it's more justified, in my mind, than a subsidy to a professional outfit. And there has been a government subsidy to professional football.

Moreover, the UBC crew isn't the first to enjoy government largesse. Other groups have been helped with travelling expenses. If they upheld the traditions of sportsmanship, maybe that's a good idea.

PERSISTENT DOUBT

My trouble seems to be a persistent doubt that taxpayers meant their money to be spent this way. I'm conditioned to thinking that public money goes to welfare services, education and public works, like roads and court-houses—though I've been told courthouses come free on occasion.

Still, it's only a nagging misgiving that I have. Certainly I want the boys to go to Australia. With my belief in the benefit of athletics, there isn't any reason for me to quibble.

And if the crew can do what an earlier crew did on the Vedder canal a couple of years ago, I'll be yelling "Give 'er ten," urging the final sprint—and pretty happy that the government "gave 'er ten," too.

Stott

I'll go even further. If part of the two cents I pay every time I buy a package of makings—helps the UBC boys—I'll smoke myself brown as a gesture of philanthropy.

Because I'm parochial in such matters, my big regret is that more B.C. boys will be unable to compete in Australia. I'm particularly sorry that my friend Rafael Duke won't be there. Raf is one of the hard-luck guys of this year's Olympic trials.

The best sprinter in town, he cleaned up the 100 and 200 metres in the B.C. try-outs in Vancouver. The folks there, like him, too. But Raf didn't get to the Hamilton trials for the Canadian team because he's two years short of being a Canadian.

HERE AS A KID

He came to Victoria from San Salvador when he was a kid of about 12 and went to University School. Since then he's been moving around, with terms at St. Mary's University in California. But he calls Victoria home.

Three years ago he decided to take out citizenship papers. He has two more years to go before he qualifies. That made him ineligible for the Canadian team, even if he had justified a place on performance. Personally I think he would have done the latter. His time for the hundred metres in Vancouver equalled that of the winner in the Hamilton trials.

The young man who chased world record-holder Mike Agostini home in the 100 at Bruce Humber's Y meet on the Victoria High track this summer—and who won the "Mr. Rugby" award during last season—isn't too disappointed.

He points out that a couple of years hence the British Empire Games will be held in Wales. "I'll be a Canadian by that time," he adds.

Which is a good, philosophical way of looking at things, even if two years is a reasonably long time to maintain a pair of sprinter's legs and play rugby too.

Maybe, at the end of that time, Raf will make the team. And possibly the B.C. government will help with the bus fare?

Newspapers 'Bulwark Against Tyrants'

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (CP)—The newspapers of Canada and the United States "have formed a mighty bulwark against the onslaughts of tyrant and demagogue alike," Canada's health minister Paul Martin said Monday.

Speaking to the Poor, Rich and Club here—reputed as America's oldest advertising club—at ceremonies opening National Newspaper Week, Mr. Martin also credited the press with helping maintain the strong bond of friendship between the two countries.

Speaking of the difference between a free and a slave press, Mr. Martin said:

"Slaves can hardly be held accountable for their actions; free men regard responsibility as a sacred trust."

ACCEPT TRUST

"By and large, the newspapers of the United States and Canada have shown that they accept this trust—humbly and in full knowledge of its vast implications."

"In so doing they have formed a mighty bulwark against the onslaughts of tyrant and demagogue alike."

On Canadian-United States relationships, he said: "We get along well because we know each other. We know each other because we can communicate with each other. And we can communicate with each other because we have no barriers—no curtains of bamboo or iron to keep us apart."

"Our means of communication are many but one of the most vital is through the free exchange of information—through the press, news services and other information media."

Dr. Chisholm said, "Atomic scientists estimate not more than 25 per cent of the human population could survive an atomic war. Biologists estimate not more than 10 per cent survival in bacteriological warfare."

YOUR HEALTH

Homeless Children

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

I was surprised to read the other day in the book by Mr. and Mrs. Brooks—"Adventuring in Adoption" (University of N. Carolina Press, 1939)—that in England adoption was not legalized until 1926. And this did not mean that the adopted child could inherit the property of his foster-parents. Even when they willed it to him, he could easily lose out in the courts because the laws on the subject are anything but clear.

The Brooks' say that in this country the laws on adoption are so mixed-up in the several states that when a will contest comes before a judge, the poor man has "to flounder in an almost uncharted sea."

adoption of children into homes, instead of incarceration in drab, often cruelly run orphan asylums, became fairly common some 60 years ago when I was a boy. I remember then reading of a wealthy man in England who placed hundreds of orphans in homes of good people in South Africa and elsewhere.

In America great credit must go to Theodore Roosevelt who, in 1909, called the first White House Conference on homeless children, out of which came the "Children's Bureau." This was the first public agency in the world to look after the welfare of homeless children. Since our courts have been so very slow to safeguard the rights of orphaned and adopted children, I suppose it will be 100 years now before the law will grant any rights to the child conceived after some artificial form of insemination. Why should we always be so heartless and so cruel to the child who, through no fault of his own, comes into the world in some way not hallowed by tradition.

BELL'S PALSY

Many persons ask what to do for a Bell's Palsy of half of the face. They might consult a neurologist, but I doubt if the neurologist could do much for them that their family doctor at home could not do, which is usually nothing. In most cases one waits until the nerve recovers its strength or grows out again. There is no medicine that I know of that can be taken by mouth to hurry the process. I imagine it would help if a physiotherapist would massage the muscles of the face, or stimulate them electrically. Fortunately, in all but a few cases, after some months the power of the muscles comes back. I do not know what the cause is—I imagine it usually is a virus that causes inflammation in the facial nerve.

POPPING OF THE EARS

Many ask what is wrong when the ears pop. Sometimes this happens when a person is on a train which is rapidly going down a mountain-side. Then it is due to increasing pressure of the air on the eardrums. In order to equalize the pressure on the two sides of the drum, all a person has to do is to swallow several times; then air goes up through the so-called eustachian tube from the throat into the middle ear.

Sometimes when a person has a cold and the mucus of the eustachian tubes in the throat are somewhat swollen, there may be difficulty in the passing of air up into the middle ear, and then there may be some popping of the ears. There is no need for worrying about the condition because it is usually transient. It is not indicative of any serious disease of the ear.

SYNOPSIS—Skies were clearing this morning along the B.C. coast in the ridge of the high pressure which is developing in the wake of the storm which crossed the province during the night. In the interior fairly frequent showers are still being reported but these will become scattered during the afternoon as drier air moves into this area of the province.

The clearing should be of only short duration, however, as another storm presently developing in the western Gulf of Alaska will bring rain and southeast gales to the north coast overnight and to the south coast and interior Wednesday afternoon and evening.

A vest-pocket empire on the Fraser

Charles Markham tells the full story of how one of the world's richest men chose tiny Annacis as the site for his industrial island. Don't miss the full exciting story of how this industrial colossus was born.

YOUR STAKE IN THE U.S. ELECTIONS

If elected next month will the Republicans raise new tariffs? Will they force like to bring foreign aid back home? Will the Democrats abandon free trade? Will their farm-price supports cost Canada foreign markets? Maclean's Ottawa Editor takes a look at both parties and reports how they could affect Canada and Canadians.

THIS MAY BE YOUR FIRST LOOK AT Canada's hidden art treasure

Obscured for fifty years in cramped "temporary" quarters, many of these paintings will be seen for the first time in the pages of Maclean's and, in 1958, in the new National Gallery. Be sure to see (and save) six pages of full color reproductions of these 17 Canadian paintings.

Yogi Likes Ike

Yankee Catcher Not So 'Dumb'

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower may not know it, and don't tell anybody because it's a secret, but he's got a vote in Yogi Berra.

"Imagine," said the squat man of the Yankees, "one of the political parties asked me to endorse their candidate. But they don't fool old Yogi. I'm not telling how I vote."

"Beside," he added as an afterthought, "some of those Brooklyn pitchers might be Democrats."

That's the latest gem from the perennial clown and good humor man of the New York Yankees. And, while his teammates laugh at him and needle him, they take no undue liberties with Yogi.

Because they all know that this is the sparkplug of the ball club—the man who makes them go.

They also know that Yogi isn't. If you'll pardon plain speaking, as dumb as he sometimes sounds. Much of his clowning is deliberate and this is perfectly obvious when you watch the shrewd brown eyes under the beetling black eyebrows.

The answer is that Yogi has never changed since he came up to the Yankees. His is the simple approach, like when he first arrived and was invited to speak at a luncheon in a swanky restaurant.

"Okay," said Yogi, "if my suit gets back from the cleaners."

The day of the luncheon, Yogi showed up—in a battered old pair of trousers hidden under a raincoat buttoned to the chin. "The suit didn't come back," was his explanation.

Yogi has more than one suit these days, with a $50,000 a year salary and a plush bowling establishment. But at 31 and getting ready for his eighth World Series, he's still the easy-going and slightly nervous type.

"Anybody who says he isn't nervous before the start of the World Series is full of bunk," Yogi said. "For the first couple of pitches you can hardly breathe. After that, it gets all right pretty quick."

Yogi's hands show surprisingly little wear for the years he has been behind the plate.

"The toughest pitcher I ever caught was Allie Reynolds," he recalls. "He'd break an awful lot of curves into the dirt and that's the toughest pitch to handle. Vic Raschi could be hard to handle at times, but I guess the toughest now is Tom Sturdivant, because he throws a knuckler. After the knuckler, the toughest pitch, I guess, is the sinker ball."

Yogi's biggest thrill was "every time I won the most valuable player award." That's three of them.

"But," he added, "every game is a thrill in itself. I guess I just love to play baseball."

Yankees, en masse, are thoroughly grateful. This is no dope. Old Yogi is the man who makes 'em go.

Saskatchewan Shares Lead In WIFU Race

Riders 33, Eskimos 7
Bombers 34, Lions 7

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

To say "Saskatchewan Roughriders" is worse than to swear in Edmonton today, for the Roughriders have done it again—knocked over the Eskimos. As if that wasn't enough, Riders did it in unfriendly Clarke Stadium.

That's no little feat, for the Eskimos hadn't been beaten at home in 20 games until Monday night when Riders whipped them 33-7 to move into a first-place tie with Edmonton in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Meanwhile, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, behind hard-charging half Bob McNamara, widened the margin between playoff berths and also-rans, defeating British Columbia Lions 34-7 at Winnipeg to take a four-point lead over fourth-place B.C. and move within two points of the top.

Not since Sept. 27, 1954, when Riders turned the trick 8-6, have Eskimos lost before a home-town crowd.

The loss was the second in a row for Eskimos, who dropped an 11-1 decision to B.C. at Vancouver a week ago, and their second of the season to Riders who won 31-4 at Regina.

Trippuck's passing arm, the brilliant catching of Canadian end Harry Lampman and running by halfbacks Ken Carpenter and Bob Marlow paced the fired-up Roughriders as they sifted through the Edmonton line for gain after gain.

Trippuck threw two touch-down passes, a six-yard toss to Lampman and a 25-yard play to Carpenter. Carpenter, last year's scoring champion, who got three touchdowns in Saturday night's 46-28 victory over B.C., plunged over from a yard out for another touchdown.

WHITEHOUSE KICKS

Marlow also plunged from a yard out for a touchdown, while guard Reggie Whitehouse kicked three converts and two field goals, from 14 and 12 yards.

Fullback Normie Kwong scored for Edmonton.

In Winnipeg, 16,467 fans watched McNamara's sensational display. The Minnesota halfback blasted through the B.C. line to score three touchdowns, two of them in the final minutes.

Buddy Leake, who played quarterback in place of Eagle Day during more than half of the game, scored two touchdowns, passed for another and converted three. End Tom Miner got a single when he missed a field goal attempt and Rae Ross was fouled by Bud Grant.

A nine-yard pass from quarter Jerry Gustafson to halfback Ed Vereh gave B.C. its only touchdown. Ron Baker converted.

Racing's Return Probable

Lucas Leads Trainers; Broomfield Top Jockey

Horse racing at Sandown Park is a distinct probability for next season.

This was the word from Colwood Park Racing Association officials Monday following the final day's running of the 14-day meet at the suburban track near Sidney.

Although the mutual handle was down $2,912 from last year, a total of $543,644 being wagered, officials felt that the returns justified "an anticipated return."

Reason for the slight decline is that last year there was an extra race, and also because the final day last year was a holiday, Thanksgiving Day, when a record $84,000 was wagered.

It is the plan of officials to improve facilities for next season.

Individual honors in the meet went to trainer Len Lucas who saddled 14 winners and to jockey Jimmy Broomfield who scored four firsts and two seconds in six races Monday to emerge with the championship jockey title.

THIRD FOR YEKES

Yeckes captured his third first of the meeting in the featured Hotelmen's Sweepstakes over two miles with a three-length victory over Ruperts Land, and returned the healthy price of $6 for a $2 ticket. Ruperts Land paid $14.20 to place.

Prices, for the most part, were good on the final day. Snap Dragon set the pattern in the first, returning $24.70 to win. Batman was also over-looked in the second for an $11.60 payoff.

Mazur was the public choice and served notice of being one of the top three-year-olds next season with a clear-cut 10-length victory in the two-year-old allowance event.

Chalon clicked in the fourth as the favored Harvester ran third. Ardent Hope was never in danger in the fifth, at a mile and seventy yards, and was an overlay in the wagering, returning $17.50 for a $2 ticket.

Batman and Scott's Drive returned a quintella of $24.80 in the second, and Gaines, who scored on opening day, repeated on the final day in the seventh race, to combine with Last Osiris for a $10.90 payoff.

It was on Gaines that Broomfield took riding honors as he needed the four points that went with a first place to overtake jockey Ron Williams, who did not ride the final two days of the meeting.

Form chart will be found on page 20.

City Puck League Proposed To Replace Island Circuit

The Vancouver Island Hockey League officially passed into limbo Monday night, but there is a possibility that the Island circuit may be replaced by a city league.

At a meeting of league and team representatives Monday night, Dick Irving of last year's Drake Hotel team announced he would not be re-entering a team and C & C Taxi stated they would not be sponsoring a club this season.

As a result, it was decided to suspend operations of the Island league for at least one season.

MAGLIE KEY TO BROOKLYN TRIUMPH

Sal Was Brooks' Blessed Event

BROOKLYN (AP)—It is fairly certain that if the Brooklyn brass hadn't reached into the clouds and emerged with an angel, in the person of 33-year-old Salvatore Anthony Maglie, more commonly known as "The Barber," the Dodgers would not be the National League champions today.

For years, Maglie was the meanest and most hated member of the New York Giants, a genuine Dodger killer, the difference between the Dodgers winning and losing at least a couple of pennants.

This year, Maglie was still mean, but instead of being hated by Brooklyn fans, he was adored, and once again, he proved the difference between the Dodgers winning and losing the pennant.

Captain Pee Wee Reese voiced what was in the hearts and minds of all the Dodgers when he said: "I bless the day Maglie became one of us. We wouldn't have had a ghost of a chance without him."

Maglie, the old pro, merely shrugs off the praise of his teammates and his record of 13 victories, including an epic no-hitter, since he joined the Dodgers in mid-May, by saying: "I'm glad I helped but I

DOUBLE TROUBLE FOR YANKS

Don Newcombe, ace of the Dodger mound staff, had reason to smile at himself Sunday as he scored his 27th victory of season in hurling Brooklyn to the National League flag. Newcombe is expected to pitch the second game of series against Yanks which opens at Brooklyn Wednesday.

Carmichael Flashes Form Colin Expects

NANAIMO—Bruce Carmichael and Wayne Brown have their hockey work cut out for them this Western Hockey League season.

Before a shot has been fired in anger in league play, Victoria Cougars' freshman coach Colin Kilburn has set a standard of 30 goals apiece for Brown and Carmichael, holdover wingers.

"I'm not just hoping for it," said Kilburn today, "I'm expecting 30 from each of them. We still need a centre to get the puck out to Brownie, but we'll get one and I'll expect 30 from both of them."

Last year, Brown scored 21 goals and Carmichael sniped 20. Carmichael looked like a good bet to fill his quota after Monday's interquid game at Nanaimo's Civic Arena. Working on left wing with centre Gordy Haworth and rookie George Raineri, Carmichael scored three goals. The new unit was a productive one, with Haworth and Raineri each chipping in with two goals.

And they were no give-away goals, either, being scored against the first-string line of Kilburn, Doug Anderson and Doug Macauley.

Kilburn's selection for a third line will have Don Chiupka at centre for wingers Brown and Roy Partridge.

Those three lines will go against Allan Cup champion Vernon Canadians in two exhibition games, at Nanaimo Thursday night and at Victoria's Memorial Arena Friday night, and will probably remain intact for Monday's league opener in Victoria against the Vancouver Canucks.

Cougars likely will have only four defencemen for the exhibition games, as sophomore rear-guard Bill Dobblyn has been sent back to Victoria to have his tendonitis treated by team physician Dr. R. White.

Until Dobblyn is ready to play again, Kilburn will call on holdovers Bill Davidson and Nels Bullock and newcomers Lionel Heinrich and Gordy Matheson.

Regals Cut Squad

BRANDON (CP)—Brandon Regals of the Western Hockey League announced Monday 10 more players had been cut from the team, leaving 23 at the pre-season training camp here. Frank Boucher, coach and general manager, cut 20 during the weekend.

Cut Monday were Chuck Scherza, Dave Gordichuk, Earl Ingarfield, Gord Stratton, Gerry Prince, Clare Melanchuk, Walt Pawlyshyn, Paul Strasser, Gord Cowan and Ron Maxwell.

City Puck League Proposed To Replace Island Circuit

However, Navy has a team ready to enter competition, and Army, a one-time league member, sent a delegate to the meeting and expressed interest in joining a team.

President Doug Fletcher said that if one or two new sponsors can be found, a four or five-team league will be formed with in the city.

Cost of traveling to Nanaimo was a hardship on most teams last year and was responsible for the financial collapse of the circuit.

Fletcher added that there are two complete sets of equipment for sale from withdrawing teams and a new sponsor could purchase the gear at a reasonable cost.

Any sponsor wishing to back a team or players who would like to join a team are asked to contact Fletcher at 8-3484 or Walt Summerfeldt at Victoria Sporting Goods Ltd.

If a city loop is formed, the tentative plan would have a city all-star team take in Island and B.C. intermediate playoffs at the conclusion of the season.

Bombers Rated 7½ to 5 Choice

BROOKLYN (AP)—The well-rested New York Yankees ruled a stout 7½-to-5 choice to dethrone the champion Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1956 world series which starts Wednesday at Ebbets Field, but the National Leaguers had plenty of supporters, too.

Bobby Bragan, who gained stature as a manager even in Pittsburgh's three season—ending losses to Brooklyn, picked the Dodgers to defeat the Yankees.

"All they have to do is play the kind of ball they played against us in those last three days," Bragan said. "Those guys were simply great."

A major league umpire, who never in which they did it, was the will remain unidentified even though he will not work in the gotten."

Maglie to Pitch for Dodgers

Whitey Ford, incidentally, was certain to pitch for the Yankees in up changes. Mickey Mantle, the opener. Manager Walter Alston named Sal Maglie to pitch the opener for Brooklyn.

Maglie won two key games for the Dodgers in the final week of the campaign. One of his victories was a no-hitter.

Earlier it was doubtful if Maglie would pitch because of feeling below par. Maglie admitted he felt tired and also complained of a mild stomach disorder but said he would pitch if Alston wanted him. The former Dodger killer's 13-5 record for Brooklyn ranks him second only to Don Newcombe (27-1), who will hurl the second game for Brooklyn, against New York's Don Larsen. Sal lost his first game, against the Yankees, in the 1955 series between the Yankees and Giants.

Stengel said he planned no line-up changes. Mickey Mantle, though still bothered by a pulled muscle in his left groin, is a certain starter in centre field, as is Billy Martin at second base. Slaughter has a bad toe but he, too, will be available, and will be in left field.

Pocket-Size Jockey

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP)—Royal Canuck, a Canadian-owned three-year-old, won a modest race for apprentices Monday—and got the kind of reception usually reserved for Derby winners.

The cheering wasn't so much for Royal Canuck, owned by J. F. York's Don Larsen. Sal lost his first game, against the Yankees, in the 1955 series between the Yankees and Giants.

Canucks Stronger, Says Art

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Western Hockey League's Vancouver Canucks return to action next week with the hard core of last season's first-place team back in harness and at least one seasoned newcomer in the fold.

"We're stronger in every department," says coach and manager Art Chapman, whose Canucks' first league action is at Victoria Oct. 8.

Returning are Ray Mikulan, the WHL's top goalkeeper, and centre Phil Maloney, who led the league scoring race last year with 95 points—37 goals and 58 assists.

Mikulan, a rangy product of Winnipeg junior competition, paced the circuit with a 2.54 goals-against average in his first season in pro hockey. The league record is 2.40, set by Lorne Worsley when he played for Vancouver three seasons ago.

Gordon Pennel is slated for duty at centre ice again but the return of centre Ray Cyr is still doubtful. Cyr, the squad's No. 2 scorer last season with 65 points, is trying for a place with New York Rangers, Canucks' parent club.

The coach's long suit is right wingmen, of which he has five trying out for three vacancies. Jack McLeod, who scored 34 goals and 49 assists for now-defunct Saskatoon Quakers and was the league's all-star right-winger last season, is almost certain to fill the slot on the first line.

Fred Brown, George Ford and Mark Marquess, all Canucks veterans, are the other right-wing candidates.

Left-wingers are not as abundant. Tom McCarthy, who placed fourth among Vancouver scorers last season with 46 points, has been sold to Detroit Red Wings. Chapman has two rookies, Gordon Redahl and Walter Peacock, and is attempting to secure Jim McFadden from Calgary.

Chapman has chosen defenceman Ralph Keller, who left Prince Albert Juniors for a 10-game stint with Saskatoon last season, as his second rookie. Other candidates include left-winger Clarence Brown, brother of Freddie; Norm Usselman of Vancouver, and left-winger Dick Lamoureux, last season with Saskatoon Quakers.

Another new face on the Vancouver blue line will be that of Clarence Rags Raglan, purchased from Buffalo of the American League. He replaces Pat Eagan, who has asked for reinstatement as an amateur to play for and coach Nelson Maple Leafs.

Returning to the Vancouver defence are Gordie Hudson, Carl Kaiser and Hugh Currie. Kaiser scored 11 goals and assisted on 28 others to rate as one of the league's most dangerous two-way defencemen last year.

SEATTLE (CP)—Two newcomers defencemen and a holdover centre described by his coach as the best in the circuit carry the main burden of Seattle Americans' hopes to vacate the Western Hockey League's coast division cellar this season.

One of the new faces when Americans open the season at New Westminster Oct. 9 will be that of coach Keith Bingo Allen, veteran of 13 hockey campaigns in four leagues, who came from Brandon as a replacement for Bill Reay. The former coach left Seattle to join the Rochester entry in the American League.

Allen, a powerful 190-pounder, will anchor a defence which comprises Gordon Sinclair, Pat Coburn, Don Busch, Pete Wright and rookies Harry Smith and Jack McCarthy.

Guyle Fielder is the pivot man whom Allen is counting on to spark Seattle's offence. "He's the most clever centre in the league and I think he's due for a real big season," the coach said.

In initial workouts Fielder has been working with Val Fonteyne, Ray Kinasewich, en route from the Detroit camp, will take over right wing.

STRONG SECOND LINE

A second unit is composed of George Senick, Rudy Filion and Alex Kuzma. Among the rookies trying for wing spots are Doug Kilburn, brother of the Victoria coach; Jerry Penner, hard-shooting left-winger from Trail, and Bruce Lea, a six-foot 2½-inch winger from Ponoka, Alta., who impressed Allen at the Detroit camp.

Missing from the early American drills has been Eddie Dorohoy, high-voltage centre, who set a league record for misconduct and game misconduct penalties last year.

Eddie has expressed a desire to be traded to Victoria, because his home and business are there. Coach Allen, however, has rejected his pleas and told him to "get here quick."

Jockey Rides Seven Winners

CHICAGO (AP)—Jockey Johnny Heckmann matched an American riding record Monday by booting home seven winners at Hawthorne.

The 24-year-old reinsman from New Orleans scored on seven of eight mounts. He did not have a mount in one race on the program of nine.

Heckmann equaled a mark set by J. Sylvester, Oct. 18, 1930, at the now-defunct Ravenna Park in Ohio.

BOXLA BANQUET

All youngsters in the Greater Victoria Minor Box Lacrosse Association are reminded that the association's annual banquet will be held Wednesday night at 7.30 in the Liberal Headquarters, Government Street.

Patterson Gains In Point Race

TORONTO (CP)—Hal Patterson of Montreal Alouettes, undoubtedly the greatest pass-catching end in Canadian professional football, is closing in on teammate Pat Abbruzzi for the Big Four scoring championship.

The 24-year-old native of Rozel, Kan., scored two touchdowns in Montreal's thrilling 44-3 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats last Saturday to break a three-way deadlock for second place in the scoring race, and now has 42 points to Abbruzzi's 60.

What Does a Spider Use to Make Her Web?

Your body uses food, air and water to keep going. It uses its own magic recipes to make all kinds of different materials. It makes hair, fingernails, skin, blood, flesh and bones. Each different material is made in the right amount in the proper place to do its own special job. You are so used to this that it does not surprise you--you take it for granted.

A spider's little body, however, is very different from yours. It's wonderful ways sometimes surprise you. Yet that small body makes the things it needs just as your body makes the things it needs. The spider is a spinner of beautiful webs. Her little body knows how to make the silken material for the different kinds of rope and cable.

The spider is a meat eater. Some of her digestive food is sent to special cells in her soft, fat stomach. These are the silk-making glands. They use their own secret recipe to turn the food into fine, liquid silk. Tiny tubes are there to lead the liquid silk to the surface as the busy spider needs it for spinning.

A hundred or more of these little tubes group to form a spinneret. The spider may have six spinnerets and a few tube openings called spigots. She may also have a wider spinning outlet for weaving broad bands of silk. All her spinnerets and silk openings are close together at the tail end, under her abdomen.

The spider pulls out the silken threads as she needs them. The liquid silk soon hardens into firm thread in the air. She uses her back feet to get the spinning started. The end of thread may be stuck to a twig, leaf, doorway or other firm object. Once it is firmly stuck, the spider just walks away from it and the silken thread unravels behind her.

Each spider has her own favorite design for spinning. Some use a thread to drop themselves safely from a high place. Some build round webs. Some let the wind catch the filmy threads and waft them aloft on little parachutes. Andy admires the beautiful round orb web best of all. If the orb spider were your size, her web would be half a mile wide. Imagine all the work in those long cables and the care needed

Glen Hamilton Heads Aid-to-Aged Bureau

Victoria social worker Glen Hamilton has been appointed to head a new Community Chest department which will co-ordinate welfare work for elderly citizens.

A new office will be opened at Spencerhouse as a department of the Family and Children's Service, probably under the name "Senior Citizens' Bureau."

The bureau will compile lists of groups and individuals who can assist the aged in fields of recreation, housekeeping, visiting and home nursing as well as in finding part-time employment.

The new department of FCS is expected to become a separate agency in 1957. Success of the enterprise will depend on a great deal on public response to the current Red Feather drive.

Mr. Hamilton has been supervisor of the Fred Langberg Sunshine Camp, another Chest agency, for five years. He holds a master's degree in social work.

'I LOVE EVERYBODY' Cheers Balance Boos At Liberace Concert

LONDON (Reuters)—About 30 young men and women greeted pianist Liberace outside London's Festival Hall Monday night with placards asking "Is this America's answer to Sue?"

The demonstrators styled themselves the "anti-Liberace society."

And when the pianist stepped out of his car between rows of police, their boos were balanced by cheers of his fans who had brought him a small piano made of white satin filled with pink carnations and roses.

Inside the hall—scene of many distinguished recitals in recent years—all was warmth, cheers and applause when the dimpled and beaming American television figure sat down at a grand piano complete with candelabra to give his first public concert in Britain.

Hugging a microphone confidentially, he interlarded his playing with longer and longer patter about himself, and various jokes in more or less good taste.

On marriage he said confidentially "I love everybody. I don't know whether I could save it all for just one person."

Based on the famous story by Mark Twain

Played against the colorful background of Edwardian England, this is Peck's first all-British film. As a young penniless American, arriving in London, he is handed a banknote for One Million Pounds by two wealthy eccentric brothers in order to settle a bet between them. What happens afterwards makes for a highly entertaining and hilarious story. If you've ever had the urge to "spend a million" you will want to see what happened to a fellow who tried.

G (To put in time)

(BB PLUS) "THE PROUD AND PROFANE" (Capitol)—If the little man with the scissors hadn't had his day off Paramount's "The Proud and Profane" would have earned a much higher rating.

Actually length is all that is wrong with this treatise on human emotions and relationships in wartime. It relies on over-long footage wherein the characters talk endlessly to make their point. Director George Seaton obviously didn't give his audience credit for very much imagination.

The principal characters, including William Holden, Deborah Kerr, Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin are excellent. But, in the end, the very length of the film robs Holden and Miss Kerr of much of the warmth and sympathy that the audience may have felt towards them in the beginning.

THE PLOT promises much. U.S. Marine Lieut. Col. Holden is a hard-bitten CO who looks on life as a war, to be measured in medals and conquests. When Red Cross worker Kerr comes to the base his ambitions soar. She's obviously of the country club and jodhpurs class and looks like a worthy goal for the one-time son of an impoverished half-breed Indian squaw.

At first repelled by his animalism Miss Kerr eventually, to her fright, discovers that she is attracted to him. A war widow, she has joined the Red Cross for a personal purpose, to learn how her husband died on the battlefield.

Time passes and their friendship blossoms until, eventually the colonel promises marriage. While writing a letter for a wounded soldier one day, however, she learns that this is impossible. The colonel has a wife. At this point she discovers that she herself is with child.

IN CONCLUSION, "The Proud and Profane," in spite of its shortcomings is still satisfactory film fare. Taken in wide screen black and white photography it faithfully recreates the feelings of war, the horror, the dream-like harshness that sees beauty only as a

CHEST DRIVE REACHES $27,762—NEAR 13%

Almost 13 per cent of the Red Feather $220,000 objective was obtained by cash, cheque and pledge at noon today.

The total, $27,762, was pulling ahead of results at the same date last year, when $22,601 had been collected.

"The voluntary canvassers are all pitching in," said community chest campaign chairman Harry Gladwell. "I feel optimistic, but ask everyone to remember this is not just another campaign, but 19 appeals in one."

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

At this season of the year, it is essential one should be a baseball expert.

If one is not a baseball expert, one had better have stood in bed.

The World Series is about to be played once more, and, for the next four to seven days (all depending on how long it takes Dem Bums to be murdered by the Bronx Bombers, or how long it takes the Dodgers to make the Yanks look like Jerks) one MUST be an expert on baseball. I mean, really.

Baseball actually is an old English game, Rounders by name, but I wouldn't mention this right now, if I were you.

Baseball is quite different from Rounders. In Rounders, one hits at a pitched ball and then one runs. But in Baseball, after one hits at a pitched ball and then runs, one pauses to beat at the umpire.

In Baseball, this is known as a Rhubarb, and could never have happened in Rounders, where a bit of Plum Jam would suffice.

But I need not tell you about Rounders, as there are many of them in these parts. Let us on to the facts about World Series Baseball.

The World Series is so-called because the team which wins the World Series wins the World Championship of Baseball. Or, at the very least, the Championship of the Civilized world, which extends from Brooklyn, N.Y., to Kansas City, Kansas.

The teams about to play in the World Series are the Brooklyn and the New Yorks. If this comes as a surprise to you, better you should stick to Rounders.

The Brooklyn and the New Yorks ALWAYS play in the World Series. (Or almost always. Some other team got in there once, and there were great cries of "kill the ump," so that was that.)

When the Brooklyn and the New Yorks go to work at the World Series of Baseball, those who are privileged to see them will witness one of the speediest spectacles in the sports world, exceeded only in dash and verve by chess and clock-golf.

If you intend to follow the World Series keep in mind the breath-taking speed of action:

The pitcher (he who hurls the ball) glowers at the catcher (he who is to catch the ball) and shakes his head (it rarely rattles) while he stares at the batter (he who is to hit the ball) and then looks at first base at the runner (he who is to steal second).

And then—WHOOSH—the pitcher calls time out—WHOOSH—the catcher calls time out—WHOOSH—the batter calls time out—WHOOSH—the runner calls time out—WHOOSH—the umpire calls time out and WHOOSH—ducks off the home plate, proving he is a tidy soul and baseball at World Series time is a—WHOOSH—fast game.

This is about all you need to know to become a baseball expert.

Unless you'd prefer to go back to Rounders or bet on the Brooklyn.

Either way—WHOOSH—you've had it.

Police Hunt Thief With Sea Fever

A thief with "sea-lust" is being hunted by Oak Bay police following theft Sunday of a 16-foot inboard boat from Oak Bay Boat House and a break-in aboard a 24-foot cruiser.

Missing from the cruiser, property of H. J. F. Rose, 2344 Middowne, are a compass, chart, clock, drinking water, fruit juice and five-gallon can of gasoline.

The culprit attempted to start the cabin cruiser's engine without success, then went aboard the smaller craft moored at a float.

LOADED BOAT

He apparently loaded the smaller craft, a clincher-built shelter cabin "Falkner," started it and shoved off.

Owner of this boat is Christopher John Small, 1717 Blanchard. The boat has a white hull, blue top and green interior with mahogany handrail.

City police were informed at 10:48 p.m. Monday of a break-in at Arnold's Bakery, 787 Fort, where a rear lavatory window was removed, entry gained and drawers and cash register ransacked. Nothing was stolen.

Miss Doris Erickson, 749 Fort, told police at 6:15 p.m. she left for work at noon, neglecting to lock her apartment door, and when she returned found $8 and four packages of cigarettes missing.

"We have added two cents to the mark-up because of higher packaging costs and higher wages," a spokesman for Victoria's leading firm of egg wholesalers said.

Retailers today are expected to boost their prices two cents to 77 cents a dozen.

Sailors Fined For Taking Car

Cyril Morgan and Gerard Thomas Fritz, both of HMCS Naden, each were fined $100 or 30 days when convicted in city court today of taking a car without the owner's consent early this morning.

Morgan, convicted last week of obstructing a police officer, was fined an additional $25 for driving without a licence.

Const. Eric Rossiter told the court he spotted a car matching description of one reported missing from its parking place on Fisgard about 2:15 a.m. and stopped it to investigate.

The sailors could not give an explanation of why they had the car and were arrested and charged.

Fritz admitted starting the car by placing metal foil paper in the ignition switch and Morgan drove it off.

Bookings Brisk For Holiday Weekend Travel

Victorians are expected to pack the highways, airways and gangplanks this Thanksgiving weekend—the last three-day holiday before Christmas.

Heading home for the festive border, most have already made reservations, but TCA and CPR officials said today there is still berth and seat space on some Friday night trips.

Trans-Canada Airlines officials say regular schedules will be bolstered by at least six extra flights. Both DC-3s and 63-seater North Star airplanes will be in use. Seats are available on Friday flights to Vancouver but only those leaving here after 10 p.m.

Steamship officials say there is still some berth space on the Friday midnight boat, but passengers should make reservations early. Most travellers have planned to depart Friday night and return Monday. A similar rush of incoming traffic is expected as hometowners abroad return.

STORES CLOSING

Downtown stores, city and municipal halls, the Legislative Buildings, all will observe the Monday holiday as well as most local industry.

Victoria post office will have no letter carrier service Monday but wicket service will be in effect 10 a.m. to noon. Special deliveries will continue. There will be no money order or savings bank service.

Street letter boxes will be cleared in the evening only. There will be no rural delivery but mail will come and go as usual at the main office. Lobby will be open 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for convenience of box holders.

The Thanksgiving holiday, a time of family gatherings and special church services, will bring some gloom however, depending upon whether you are an impatient and careless driver, or a turkey.

Prime turkeys, ready for the oven, are in good supply at local meat stores. Price is expected to be reduced this year from last, ranging from 53 to 68 cents a pound, depending on weight. Biggest birds are cheap.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, Crescent, Athabaskan, Sioux, Jonquiere, New Glasgow, St. Theresa, Stettler, Sussexvale on exercises, returning Saturday.

James Bay, Cordova on exercises, returning p.m. Friday. Fort Quebec left today, returning Nov. 7.

No Change Expected

Up to six changes in the final standing of the new B.C. Legislature were possible today as final ballot-counting from the Sept. 19 election got under way.

About 30,000 absentee and special sealed votes are being tallied.

In the Victoria district, George Gregory faced a mathematical chance—but little practical possibility—of being edged out for the third city seat by Mrs. Lydia Arsen.

As counting started, he held a lead of 502 votes, and there are 550 ballots to be counted.

City counting was expected to be completed today, but province-wide results won't be finalized until Wednesday, or possibly Thursday.

The final count is being watched closely in 10 of the province's 42 ridings, but elections in the past indicate first-count results will remain unchanged.

SIX RIDINGS
Six ridings with the greatest mathematical chances of change are: Grand Forks-Greenwood and New Westminster, which could be taken by the Socialists from the CCF; and Atlin, Skeena, South Peace River and Vancouver East, which could be taken by the CCF from the Socialists.

In Nanaimo, with the absentee count completed, Mayor Earle Westwood increased his majority over opposition parties, receiving 142 of the 312 ballots counted.

At Cowichan-Newcastle the count saw CCF leader Robert Strachan increase his majority with 277 of 530 ballots.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Ronald Joseph Dwyer, 133 Kingston, $40 and driver's licence suspension for careless driving.

Barry Edward Dusang, 930 Southgate, $25 for driving without a licence.

Ralinder Singh, 723 Market, $35 for careless driving.

Robert J. Bullen, 463 Davida, $35 for careless driving resulting in more than $300 damage in collision with another car at a crosswalk.

Maxwell John Morley, Camp Gordon Head, $25 for driving without a licence.

Maurice Vernon Leeson, 2835 Colquitz, $25 for driving without a licence.

Joseph Cedric Whyte, 713 Pembroke, $20 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, paced at 45-50.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is the area of Iceland and how does it compare with the area of Vancouver Island?

—H.L.C.
A. The area of Iceland is 39,758 square miles and a United Nations' estimate of its population in 1954 put it at 154,000. The area of Vancouver Island is computed at 12,408 square miles. The most recent estimate of this Island's population, made by the Bureau of Economic Statistics a short time before the federal census of June, 1954, was 240,800. The officials are interestedly watching for the publication of the census figure, to observe how close to the census report their computation is.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When Cold Strikes, Go to Bed—It's Safer

"Adolescence is when you think you will live forever. Middle age is when you wonder how you have lasted so long." —George Hart.

Fortunately every age has its advantages, even middle age and older years. For one thing, you have fewer colds as you grow older. That is a blessing but do not be fooled by it. Colds in the older person are more likely to be serious, to lead to complications if neglected.

If you do not take care of yourself your cold may pave the way for pneumonia or real gripe, acute sinus or mastoid infection and other serious conditions.

Due to an exaggerated sense of duty many men and women go about their work, either in their home or in an office, when they should be in bed. It seems foolish to run the risk of dangerous diseases when the old world can get along without any one of us for a few days anyway. Your job will be there and your family will not fold up.

Also, you will have the heart-felt thanks of your co-workers and your family for not infecting them. One overzealous worker can infect a whole office full of people; these in turn infect their families, and the children infect other school children. On and on it goes!

The medical profession takes a rather dim view of many of the familiar treatments for a cold. There is no known remedy which will shorten a virus cold. Doctors are loathe to use the antibiotics for every cold which comes along, even if they were effective, because they do not want to make you immune to the antibiotics. Some day it might be a question of life and death when you need them for something like pneumonia.

If you have a fever with your cold you should go to bed and call a doctor. He will tell you what to do.

In this column I often have urged my readers to take a day or two off once in a while and loaf in bed. That is about the only way you can be sure to be rid of your responsibilities for that long. If you are one of those righteous persons who would feel guilty when giving yourself that sort of a break, you at least can have no twinges of conscience when you stay in bed with a bad cold.

If you would like to have our leaflet "Vitamins in Your Diet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper. Ask for leaflet No. 38.

Children's Fashions—Plans for a children's fashion show were made at a recent meeting of the Association for Childhood Education, held in James Bay Elementary School. President Miss Peggy Bell conducted the meeting, and it was decided to hold the show in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company, Oct. 13 at 2.30 p.m. Tea will be served from 3 to 4 p.m. There will also be a home cooking stall and sale of Christmas cards. Miss Bell and Mrs. Bertha Stewart were nominated delegates to the ACE State Study Conference in Longview, Wash., late this month. A report was given on the children's room at the Art Gallery.

YMCA Ladies' Auxiliary, annual rummage sale, YMCA building, Thursday, 1 p.m. Good used clothing; good selection of household articles. Anyone wishing to donate to the rummage sale may call Mrs. George Wheaton for collection.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Jersey Shirts and Blouses Are Pouring in for Fall

By PENNY SAVER

You've seen them in Vogue, Harper's and the other top fashion mags, and now you can see them right here in town. Jerseys for the smart young woman come in a solid black or in colorful stripes for dress and sportswear. A cardigan striped in red and black, gold or turquoise and black has long sleeves and a cuffed hood. This style adapts itself comfortably to the trend towards car coats. Priced at $3.98 they'll serve you well through the fall months and into winter. A black jersey pullover with hood has three-quarter sleeves, and costs $4.98. Another cardigan blouse in red or black has three-quarter sleeves and a large, heavy knit collar, right in the newest style. It's yours for $5.98.

The browns, oranges and leaf colors for fall call for jewelry that blends and becomes a part of the overall ensemble. You'll love the sporty yet very feminine leather jewelry that is keyed to casual living. Bracelets, in link style, are $3.50. Expansion styles of darker leather are slightly higher. Necklaces to go with your favorite sweaters are $2.95 and $3.95, and button earrings are $1.95.

Have you some Scottish blood in you? Do you know which clan? If you do, you'll like the attractive and cleverly designed clan crest pins that are selling in a local store. The coat-of-arms and motto are done in enamel on a silver background. You have a choice of MacArthur, Buchanan, MacLean, Cameron, Robertson, Fraser, MacKenzie, Gordon, MacGregor or Royal Stewart. All are priced at $1.

So many were interested in the Blue Willow candles I mentioned last week that I thought I'd tell you about some other novelty candles I found. Carved Mikado candles with ornate dragons are $1.59 a pair. They come in green, brown or red. In a long cylinder are six silk candles to go with your flower arrangements. Fifteen inches long, these candles come in six assorted colors, and are 75 cents.

To Penticton

Alderman and Mrs. R. P. Macmillan left Monday evening for motor to Penticton, where they will attend the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention.

Mrs. H. T. MacGregor attended the concert with her son Barrie. They are pictured in the foyer of the theatre as they received programs from Mrs. Denis Humphries, a member of the Women's Committee of the symphony society.

Distinguished Guests, Family Parties Attend

Among first-nighters were Mr. R. H. Edgell and his daughter, Miss Susan Edgell. Mrs. Edgell was also in this happy family party.

First Place Law Grad In Quebec Is a Girl

Louise Gallipeault, of Quebec City, admitted to the Quebec bar last year, says she found that being a girl was more help than hindrance while she was a law student.

"I'm sure I got better treatment than many of the male students," Louise said in an interview while attending the Canadian Bar Association convention here with her father.

Louise, who placed first among 152 law students in bar exams in Montreal, was named queen of the campus in her freshman year at Laval University. Now she is engaged to another young lawyer, but marriage probably won't stop her legal career.

LEGAL HERITAGE

The great-granddaughter, granddaughter, and daughter of lawyers Louise was first drawn to law because she thought it would give her something in common with her father.

"It was wonderful to have him around, to help with problems while I was studying," she said. As a result of her success in bar exams, Louise was awarded scholarships from both the Quebec and French governments. She used them to study legal aspects of juvenile delinquency in France, working at the courthouse for children in Paris. Now back in Canada after a year abroad, she hopes to continue legal work with juvenile offenders here, possibly continuing part-time work and going into legal research after she marries.

Louise combined her studies in France with travel in Europe and the Middle East. Although this year's bar meeting was her first as a full-fledged lawyer, she has attended five previously as her father's guest.

Volunteers—At a meeting of Langford Women's Institute, several members volunteered to help with canning and sewing at St. Mary's Priory, Goldstream. It was decided to hold another rummage sale in the institute hall this month. Donations of children's clothing have been requested. Mrs. William McDowell conducted the meeting.

Peggy Tucker Is Charming Bride In Pastel Floral Church Setting

A floral motif of blue and yellow was chosen as the background for the wedding of Miss Marjorie Ann (Peggy) Tucker and Mr. James Ronald Phillips recently in Victoria West United Church. Pastel-shaded fall flowers were the setting for the ceremony performed by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie. Pale blue and yellow tinted carnations marked guest pews.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tucker, 726 Canterbury Road, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white net over satin fashioned with a lace bodice and lace bolero jacket. An elbow-length veil was held to a small pearl and sequin studded coronet. White, pink and mauve chrysanthemums were in her bridal bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. D. Agate, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid, Miss Judy Gould, wore dresses of net over taffeta with lace bodices and matching boleros. They wore blue and yellow, respectively. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Norah Tucker, younger sister of the bride, was in a yellow nylon over taffeta frock, completing the color motif. All carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums with contrasting ribbons of blue and yellow, and wore the same blooms in their hair.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Les Phillips, Pontrill, Sask., had Joe Sheppard as best man, and Don Agate and J. Larson as ushers. Pale blue tulle dotted with blue and yellow carnations surrounded the wedding cake which centred the bride's table at the reception party held in Fraser Street Hall in Esquimalt where pale blue, yellow and white decorations formed the background. The three-tier cake, made and decorated by Fred Thomas, a family friend, was flanked by cream and yellow roses in crystal vases and tall white candles in silver holders. Fred Polson proposed the toast to his niece's future happiness.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Tacoma, Wash., the bride wore a dark blue flecked suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and red rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will live at Caton's Bungalow Court, Island Highway, when they return.

Two-Sided Job Includes Foods And Food Planners

OTTAWA (CP)—Jean Macdiarmid has two jobs—she looks after both diets and dietitians.

Elected president of the Canadian Dietetic Association this summer, she heads a 1,200-member organization which promotes the profession and campaigns for better nutrition habits for all Canadians.

Miss Macdiarmid is also director of dietetic services for the Department of Veterans Affairs here. She makes annual rounds of 16 veterans' hospitals across Canada, happily noting the beneficial results of dietetic treatment. She told a reporter she likes travelling and finds the results of treatment by diet in hospitals a rewarding part of her regular work.

The fact that dietitians are gradually gaining legal recognition and professional status is a reward in its own way, too.

Secret Parley Drafts Rules For Suez Plan

LONDON (CP)—The organization committee of the Suez Canal Users Association, inaugurated here Monday, met today in secret to continue drafting rules and by-laws. An authoritative source said the committee's recommendations probably would be submitted to the next plenary session of the association's council, likely to be held Wednesday. USCA's shipping committee met this morning to continue its examination of the important question of payment of dues by ships passing through the waterway.

U.K. SHIP AGROUND

Canal Blocked For Half-Hour

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The 2,270-ton British cargo ship Hendrik went aground in the Suez Canal today, delaying shipping until it was freed about 30 minutes later.

The mishap occurred about 30 miles south of Port Said. A tug dragged the Hendrik clear. It was the first time a ship has gone aground in the canal since Egyptian pilots took over the piloting duties over two weeks ago. The Hendrik was part of a convoy of 14 ships which left Port Said at 2 a.m. Another nine ships left Port Said about noon and 21 were en route to the Mediterranean from Suez.

Passing cargo ships through the canal is a tricky business, and such mishaps were not uncommon even when the old international Suez Canal Company pilots were in charge of the operation.

PORT SAID (Reuters)—A Russian pilot took a ship through the Suez Canal unaided for the first time today. Four Russian pilots, training as pilots under the Egyptian canal authority, wrote their examinations Monday.

Two more American sea captains arrived in Port Said Monday to start training as canal pilots.

Adlai Urges Ike to Lead In Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson has challenged President Eisenhower to "take the leadership" in banning hydrogen bomb tests, saying the United States administration "has not pressed forward along this path to peace as so many have urged." The proposal came in the wake of a slashing campaign attack by Eisenhower Monday night on Stevenson and the Democratic majority in the U.S. Congress. Eisenhower also forecast, in a major address at Lexington, Ky., a continued prosperity "with more than 70,000,000 jobs at good wages" if he is re-elected.

Offers to Buy Tax-Seized RC Schools

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—R. C. MacDonald, municipalities minister under British Columbia's former coalition government, has offered $15,000 for three Roman Catholic parochial schools threatened with seizure by neighboring Coquitlam municipality.

Reeve James Christmas of Coquitlam said the cheque was deposited with the municipal clerk Monday.

The municipality, 22 miles east of Vancouver, announced it is empowered to take title to the schools because they are in arrears of $10,000 on taxes. Deadline for payment of the taxes was Sept. 30.

Lunatic Passenger, Cabin Fire Haunted B.C. Ship's Jinxed Trip

PORT HARDY (CP)—The grounding of the Union Steamships vessel Cardena Sunday night was the climax of a trip beset by troubles, crew members said today.

An eccentric passenger and a fire were part of the bad luck that jinxed the Cardena on what was to have been the last trip before a winter layover and drydocking.

Today, the Cardena, only "slightly damaged" after being grounded at Duval Point on Vancouver Island's northeast coast, is being towed to Vancouver. Another Union vessel will pick up its passengers, taken off at Port Hardy.

The passenger ran amok early Sunday, smashing furnishings and holding crew members at bay with a curtain rod until they locked him up and set two men guarding his door.

When he became quiet, they opened the door to have a look at him. The man was gone and the porthole was open.

With cries of "man overboard," the Cardena stopped, backed up and dropped a lifebelt while searchlights swept the water. Then came a cry from the engine room, "Get that nut out of here."

Crew members are still wondering how the man clambered out of the porthole and up the side of the Cardena on to the promenade deck.

The ship stopped at Campbell River where RCMP and a doctor took the man ashore.

Saturday night, when the Cardena sailed, a smoldering cigarette set a mattress on fire. Crew members, warned by dense smoke in the corridor, were able to put out the fire before serious damage resulted.

The 1,500-ton vessel suffered a few buckled plates and damage to her steering when she grounded late Sunday night. Passengers were taken off by a provincial forestry boat and an RCMP launch which suffered $800 damage when her wooden hull was buffeted against the Cardena's steel plates. Capt. E. M. Sheppard said he could not talk about circumstances of the mishap. The Cardena is equipped with radar but officers refused to discuss whether it was working.

16% Boost Looms In Liquor Prices

Distillers Increase Prices to LCB

B.C. hard liquor drinkers can expect price increases of up to 16½ per cent shortly.

B.C. Liquor Control Board today was notified of new prices by the House of Seagram and Alberta Distillers Ltd.

Increases quoted average 15 per cent but, because of the federal sales tax paid by the Liquor Control Board, actual increase cost to the board will be 16½ per cent. New prices cover all brands, including rye, rum, Scotch and gin.

Amount of the increase to be passed on to the consumer has not been decided.

Board cost accountants are working on the new prices today.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

While only Seagram's and Alberta Distillers have submitted new prices so far, it is expected other major distilleries will follow suit.

If the full distillery price increase is passed on to the consumer, a bottle of hard liquor

December 12-14, Wednesday to Friday, will be devoted to the actual convention at which some 1,300 delegates will make their choice of a leader.

Westerners Lining Up Behind Diefenbaker

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, veteran Saskatchewan MP, emerged today as the strong favorite to succeed George Drew as national leader of the Conservative party.

Duff Roblin, leader of the Manitoba Progressive Conservatives, will campaign vigorously in support of Mr. Diefenbaker, adding his weight to the "Diefenbaker for Leader" bandwagon that is off and rolling with increasing momentum.

Mr. Roblin told The Victoria Times today, just before the national executive meeting of the party opened, that he was supporting Diefenbaker and working for him. Mr. Roblin, who has been mentioned as a possible "dark horse" candidate, said emphatically that he would not be a candidate for the leadership at the party's national convention.

FULTON OUTSIDE

E. Davie Fulton, brilliant young MP from Kamloops, is expected to be in the leadership race but western executive members believe that most of the western support would go to the popular Mr. Diefenbaker. Mr. Diefenbaker declined comment today on the leadership report.

But he left no doubt in the minds of newspapermen that if the Conservatives make it apparent in no uncertain terms that they want him for the leadership, he will be available. It was apparent here today that Mr. Diefenbaker was a prime favorite with many Conservative leaders. He will take an early lead in the leadership race, but whether he can hold that lead at the convention remains to be seen.

CAUTIOUS

Conservative MP's and members of the national executive, when pressed for an opinion on the leadership, gave cautious replies. But it appeared that Mr. Diefenbaker will receive considerable support from British Columbia and the three Prairie provinces as well as the Maritimes.

In Ontario there is sharp division over the popularity of Mr. Diefenbaker versus Donald Fleming, MP for Toronto-Eglinton, and George Hees, MP for Toronto-Broadview. Quebec delegates were keeping mum at this stage.

Doctors Hit BCHIS Policy on Cortisone

The public and medical profession are entitled to an explanation from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service for continuing restrictions of essential drugs such as cortisone, Dr. Frank Turnbull, chairman of the liaison committee, B.C. division, Canadian Medical Association, said here today.

He told delegates to the division conference in Empress Hotel clarification was needed now. Dr. Turnbull said also the provincial government should make its stand clear on development of such basic services as pathology in hospitals of rapidly-growing communities.

'Shack-Town' Vote Riles C of C Head

Anti-Incorporation Decision at Langford Regressive Action, Declares Colwood Man

The unorganized territory of Langford, Colwood, View Royal and Glen Lake will never have anything but "shack towns" unless they incorporate, Archie McIntyre, Chamber of Commerce president, said today.

Disappointed by a Colwood and Districts chamber decision Monday night to suspend incorporation planning, he said: "It is one of the most regressive actions ever taken by any community. They have stultified progress for the next five years at least."

At a meeting of the chamber at Langford Community Hall, a vote was passed to postpone investigations into incorporation for at least six months.

HALF PRESENT

"It was done by a few members of the chamber. Only half the members were present," said the chairman.

He denied earlier reports that "rate residents who wanted to attend were turned away and that occupants of an estimated 40 cars milled around the hall."

"That is a deliberate falsehood," said Mr. McIntyre. "A few came and went away quietly."

He said the main complaint of members opposed to incorporation moves was that the public had been given distorted facts. "The general idea in people's minds was that the chamber was trying to impose incorporation on the people."

RAISE PETITION

Mr. McIntyre pointed out that all the chamber could do was organize public meetings and attempt to raise a petition. The petition would require signatures of a majority of landowners and would ask the provincial government to conduct a poll.

"They would still have to vote for it," he said.

"Now they have tied our hands. We can't even hold public meetings."

He said the step toward incorporation should have been taken years ago.

"They'll never have anything but shack towns if they keep on the way they are going."

One member of the chamber used Saanich's current difficulties in completing sewer programs as an argument against incorporation.

"That doesn't have to happen here," said Mr. McIntyre. "It could be taken as an object lesson. Past councils in Saanich have tried to do too much in too short a period, with a lack of planning."

LIKE BUSH

"There are still too many people (in the unorganized territories) who are afraid of restrictions. They want to live out in the bush."

To these he said: "There does not have to be too many restrictions."

"If the people would incorporate they would add prestige, command far more respect" and more people would be willing to move into the area if the services which come with incorporation were available.

Mr. McIntyre said he felt most residents opposed to incorporation were really opposed to paying for the services the district requires. At the same time, he said, no mortgage

A government spokesman said the inquiry will have particular reference to interpretation and administration of the silicosis provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The inquiry was confirmed during the recent election campaign by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

'Give 'Er Ten'

I'm tickled to death that the UBC crew is getting enough money to go to the Olympics in Australia.

I think there are several reasons why the oarsmen deserve special consideration. The Varsity achievement at the Empire Games was spectacular. And since it's British Columbia's university outfit, it represents the whole province.

Just the same there's a little nagging question running around in the back of my head. Is it right for the government to chip in $10,000 to send any group of athletes anywhere?

Probably it is, only I haven't quite got my thinking around to the proper place yet. Certainly it's more justified, in my mind, than a subsidy to a professional outfit. And there has been a government subsidy to professional football.

Moreover, the UBC crew isn't the first to enjoy government largesse. Other groups have been helped with travelling expenses. If they upheld the traditions of sportsmanship, maybe that's a good idea.

PERSISTENT DOUBT

My trouble seems to be a persistent doubt that taxpayers meant their money to be spent this way. I'm conditioned to thinking that public money goes to welfare services, education and public works, like roads and court houses—though I've been told courthouses come free on occasion.

Still, it's only a nagging misgiving that I have. Certainly I want the boys to go to Australia. With my belief in the benefit of athletics, there isn't any reason for me to quibble.

And if the crew can do what an earlier crew did on the Vedder canal a couple of years ago, I'll be yelling "Give 'er ten," urging the final sprint—and pretty happy that the government "gave 'er ten," too.

Stott

I'll go even further. If part of the two cents I pay every time I buy a package of makings helps the UBC boys, I'll smoke myself brown as a gesture of philanthropy.

Because I'm parochial in such matters, my big regret is that more B.C. boys will be unable to compete in Australia. I'm particularly sorry that my friend Rafael Duke won't be there. Raf is one of the hard-luck guys of this year's Olympic trials.

The best sprinter in town, he cleaned up the 100 and 200 metres in the B.C. try-outs in Vancouver. The folks there like him, too. But Raf didn't get to the Hamilton trials for the Canadian team because he's two years short of being a Canadian.

HERE AS A KID

He came to Victoria from San Salvador when he was a kid of about 12 and went to University School. Since then he's been moving around, with terms at St. Mary's University in California. But he calls Victoria home.

Three years ago he decided to take out citizenship papers. He has two more years to go before he qualifies. That made him ineligible for the Canadian team, even if he had justified a place on performance. Personally I think he would have done the latter. His time for the hundred metres in Vancouver equaled that of the winner in the Hamilton trials.

The young man who chased world record-holder Mike Agostini home in the 100 at Bruce Humber's Y meet on the Victoria High track this summer—and who won the "Mr. Rugby" award during last season—is too disappointed.

He points out that a couple of years hence the British Empire Games will be held in Wales. "I'll be a Canadian by that time," he adds.

Which is a good, philosophical way of looking at things, even if two years is a reasonably long time to maintain a pair of sprinter's legs and play rugby too.

Maybe, at the end of that time, Raf will make the team. And possibly the B.C. government will help with the bus fare?

PAUL MARTIN LAUDS PRESS

Newspapers 'Bulwark Against Tyrants'

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (CP)—The newspapers of Canada and the United States "have formed a mighty bulwark against the onslaughts of tyrant and demagogue alike," Canada's health minister Paul Martin said Monday.

Speaking to the Poor Richard Club here—reputed as America's oldest advertising club—at ceremonies opening National Newspaper Week, Mr. Martin also credited the press with helping maintain the strong bond of friendship between the two countries.

Speaking of the difference between a free and a slave press, Mr. Martin said: "Slaves can hardly be held accountable for their actions; free men regard responsibility as a sacred trust."

ACCEPT TRUST

"By and large, the newspapers of the United States and Canada have shown that they accept this trust—humbly and in full knowledge of its vast implications."

"In so doing they have formed a mighty bulwark against the onslaughts of tyrant and demagogue alike..."

On Canadian-United States relations, he said: "We get along well because we know each other. We know each other because we can communicate with each other. And we can communicate with each other because we have no barriers—no curtains of bamboo or iron to keep us apart."

"Our means of communication are many but one of the most vital is through the free exchange of information—through the press, news services and other information media."

Any housewife would have thought of it! But credit goes to the builders of the U.S. Navy's mighty new carrier, U.S.S. Ranger, for using aluminum foil to keep their product "fresh."

During construction, a ship rests on wooden blocks, which absorb a lot of moisture. To protect their costly steel hull from rust and corrosion during the 18-month construction period, the Navy simply covered the blocks with ordinary household foil. This brainwave was a natural for a marine builder, since nowadays he uses shiny, non-corroding aluminum so widely for superstructures, lifeboats and other important ship-building components.

War Is Same As Suicide—Dr. Chisholm

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—War is synonymous with suicide and humans had better begin to think of the horror which would be an atomic war, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Victoria said Monday night.

The former head of the World Health Organization addressed the banquet of the 36th general conference of the Northwest Trade Association.

Dr. Chisholm said, "Atomic scientists estimate not more than 25 per cent of the human population could survive an atomic war. Biologists estimate not more than 10 per cent survival in bacteriological warfare."

Homeless Children

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

I was surprised to read the other day in the book by Mr. and Mrs. Brooks—"Adventuring in Adoption" (University of N. Carolina Press, 1939)—that in England adoption was not legalized until 1926. And this did not mean that the adopted child could inherit the property of his foster-parents. Even when they willed it to him, he could easily lose out in the courts because the laws on the subject are anything but clear.

The Brooks' say that in this country the laws on adoption are so mixed-up in the several states that when a will contest comes before a judge the poor man has "to flounder in an almost uncharted sea."

adoption of children into homes, instead of incarceration in orphan asylums, became fairly common some 60 years ago when I was a boy. I remember then reading of a wealthy man in England who placed hundreds of orphans in homes of good people in South Africa and elsewhere.

In America great credit must go to Theodore Roosevelt who, in 1909, called the first White House Conference on homeless children, out of which came the "Children's Bureau." This was the first public agency in the world to look after the welfare of homeless children. Since our courts have been so very slow to safeguard the rights of orphaned and adopted children, I suppose it will be 100 years now before the law will grant any rights to the child conceived after some artificial form of insemination. Why should we always be so heartless and so cruel to the child who, through no fault of his own, comes into the world in some way not hallowed by tradition.

BELL'S PALSY

Many persons ask what to do for a Bell's Palsy of half of the face. They might consult a neurologist, but I doubt if the neurologist could do much for them that their family doctor at home could not do, which is usually nothing. In most cases one waits until the nerve recovers its strength or grows out again. There is no medicine that I know of that can be taken by mouth to hurry the process. I imagine it would help if a physiotherapist would massage the muscles of the face, or stimulate them electrically. Fortunately, in all but a few cases, after some months the power of the muscles comes back. I do not know what the cause is—I imagine it usually is a virus that causes inflammation in the facial nerve.

POPPING OF THE EARS

Many ask what is wrong when the ears pop. Sometimes this happens when a person is on a train which is rapidly going down a mountain-side. Then it is due to increasing pressure of the air on the ear-drums. In order to equalize the pressure on the two sides of the drum, all a person has to do is to swallow several times; then air goes up through the so-called eustachian tube from the throat into the middle ear.

Sometimes when a person has a cold and the mucus of the eustachian tubes in the throat are somewhat swollen, there may be difficulty in the passing of air up into the middle ears, and then there may be some popping of the ears. There is no need for worrying about the condition because it is usually transient. It is not indicative of any serious disease of the ear.

In the interior fairly frequent showers are still being reported but these will become scattered during the afternoon as drier air moves into this area of the province.

The clearing should be of only short duration, however, as another storm presently developing in the western Gulf of Alaska will bring rain and southeast gales to the north coast overnight and to the south coast and interior Wednesday afternoon and evening.

CHEST DRIVE REACHES $27,762—NEAR 13%

Almost 13 per cent of the Red Feather $220,000 objective was obtained by cash, cheque and pledge at noon today.

The total, $27,762, was pulling ahead of results at the same date last year, when $22,601 had been collected.

"The voluntary canvassers are all pitching in," said community chest campaign chairman Harry Gladwell. "I feel optimistic, but ask everyone to remember this is not just another campaign, but 19 appeals in one."

BETWEEN TIMES

By
MONTE ROBERTS

At this season of the year, it is essential one should be a baseball expert.

If one is not a baseball expert, one had better have stood in bed.

The World Series is about to be played once more, and for the next four to seven days (all depending on how long it takes Dem Bums to be murdered by the Bronx Bombers, or how long it takes the Dodgers to make the Yanks look like Jerks) one MUST be an expert on baseball. I mean, really.

Baseball actually is an old English game, Rounders by name, but I wouldn't mention this right now, if I were you.

Baseball is quite different from Rounders. In Rounders, one hits at a pitched ball and then one runs. But in Baseball, after one hits at a pitched ball and then runs, one pauses to beef at the umpire.

In Baseball, this is known as a Rhubarb, and could never have happened in Rounders, where a bit of Plum Jam would suffice.

But I need not tell you about Rounders, as there are many of them in these parts. Let us on to the facts about World Series Baseball.

The World Series is so-called because the team which wins the World Series wins the World Championship of Baseball. Or, at the very least, the Championship of the Civilized world, which extends from Brooklyn, N.Y., to Kansas City, Kansas.

The teams about to play in the World Series are the Brooklyn and the New Yorks. If this comes as a surprise to you, better you should stick to Rounders.

The Brooklyn and the New Yorks ALWAYS play in the World Series. (Or almost always. Some other team got in there once, and there were great cries of "kill the ump," so that was that.)

When the Brooklyn and the New Yorks go to work at the World Series of Baseball, those who are privileged to see them will witness one of the speediest spectacles in the sports world, exceeded only in dash and verve by chess and clock-golf.

If you intend to follow the World Series keep in mind the breath-taking speed of action:

The pitcher (he who hurls the ball) glowers at the catcher (he who is to catch the ball) and shakes his head (it rarely rattles) while he stares at the batter (he who is to hit the ball) and then looks at first base at the runner (he who is to steal second.)

And then—WHOOOSH—the pitcher calls time out—WHOOOSH—the catcher calls time out—WHOOOSH—the batter calls time out—WHOOOSH—the runner calls time out—WHOOOSH—the umpire calls time out and WHOOOSH—dusts off the home plate, proving he is a tidy soul and baseball at World Series time is a—WHOOOSH—fast game.

This is about all you need to know to become a baseball expert.

Unless you'd prefer to go back to Rounders or bet on the Brooklyn.

Either way—WHOOOSH—you've had it.

Police Hunt Thief With Sea Fever

A thief with "sea-lust" is being hunted by Oak Bay police following theft Sunday of a 16-foot inboard boat from Oak Bay Boat House and a break-in aboard a 24-foot cruiser.

Missing from the cruiser, property of H. J. F. Rose, 2344 Middowne, are a compass, chart, clock, drinking water, fruit juice and five-gallon can of gasoline.

The culprit attempted to start the cabin cruiser's engine without success, then went aboard the smaller craft moored at a float.

He apparently loaded the smaller craft, a clinker-built shelter cabin "Falkner," started it and shoved off.

Owner of this boat is Christopher John Small, 1717 Blandford. The boat has a white hull, blue top and green interior with mahogany handrail.

City police were informed at 10:48 p.m. Monday of a break-in at Arnold's Bakery, 787 Fort, where a rear lavatory window was removed, entry gained and drawers and cash register ransacked. Nothing was stolen.

Miss Doris Erickson, 749 Fort, told police at 6:15 p.m. she left for work at noon, neglecting to lock her apartment door, and when she returned found $8 and four packages of cigarettes missing.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT...

Storms buffeting around in the Pacific are headed this way, according to the official weather forecast. Skies are expected to cloud over Wednesday, and rain and strong winds won't be far behind.

The weather office says a whole series of storms are following each other to the West, and as soon as we get rid of one, another will be along.

Sailors Fined For Taking Car

Cyril Morgan and Gerard Thomas Fritz, both of HMCS Naden, each were fined $100 or 30 days when convicted in city court today of taking a car without the owner's consent early this morning.

Morgan, convicted last week of obstructing a police officer, was fined an additional $25 for driving without a licence.

Const. Eric Rossiter told the court he spotted a car matching description of one reported missing from his parking place on Fisgard about 2:15 a.m. and stopped it to investigate.

The sailors could not give an explanation of why they had the car and were arrested and charged. Fritz admitted starting the car by placing metal foil paper in the ignition switch and Morgan drove it off.

Old Soldier Settlement Head Dies

Lieut. Col. G. Chalmers Johnston, 82, superintendent of the Soldiers' Settlement Board in the interior for 11 years following the First World War, died at his home in Sidney on Saturday.

He took over the board's operation for the whole of the province in 1931, a position which he held until retirement in 1939.

A distinguished soldier, Lieut. Col. Johnston served as commanding officer of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles in France during the First World War.

He won the DSO and Bar, the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre, and was mentioned in dispatches three times.

8 YEARS HERE

Born in London, England, he lived in Victoria for eight years and moved to Sidney in 1954, where he died at his home on 3rd Street.

Absentee Ballot Count Started

Bookings Brisk For Holiday Weekend Travel

Victorians are expected to pack the highways, airways and gangplanks this Thanksgiving weekend—the last three-day holiday before Christmas.

Heading home for the festive board, most have already made reservations, but TCA and CPR officials said today there is still berth and seat space on some Friday night trips.

Trans-Canada Airlines officials say regular schedules will be bolstered by at least six extra flights. Both DC-3s and 63-seater North Star airplanes will be in use. Seats are available on Friday flights to Vancouver but only those leaving here after 10 p.m.

Steamship officials say there is still some berth space on the Friday midnight boat, but passengers should make reservations early. Most travellers have planned to depart Friday night and return Monday. A similar rush of incoming traffic is expected as hometowners abroad return.

STORES CLOSING

Downtown stores, city and municipal halls, the Legislative Buildings, all will observe the Monday holiday as well as most local industry.

Victoria post office will have no letter carrier service Monday but wicket service will be in effect 10 a.m. to noon. Special deliveries will continue. There will be no money order or savings bank service.

Street letter boxes will be cleared in the evening only. There will be no rural delivery but mail will come and go as usual at the main office. Lobby will be open 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for convenience of box holders.

The Thanksgiving holiday, a time of family gatherings and special church services, will bring some gloom however, depending upon whether you are an impatient and careless driver, or a turkey.

Prime turkeys, ready for the oven, are in good supply at local meat stores. Price is expected to be reduced this year from last, ranging from 53 to 68 cents a pound, depending on weight. Biggest birds are cheap.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, Crescent, Athabaskan, Sioux, Jonquiere, New Glasgow, Ste. Therese, Stettler, Sussexvale on exercises, returning Saturday.

James Bay, Cordova on exercises, returning p.m. Friday. Fort Quebec left today, returning Nov. 7.

No Change Expected

Up to six changes in the final standing of the new B.C. Legislature were possible today as final ballot-counting from the Sept. 19 election got under way.

About 30,000 absentee and special sealed votes are being tallied.

In the Victoria district, George Gregory faced a mathematical chance—but little practical possibility—of being edged out for the third city seat by Mrs. Lydia Arsens. As counting started, he held a lead of 502 votes, and there are 550 ballots to be counted.

City-counting was expected to be completed today, but province-wide results won't be finalized until Wednesday, or possibly Thursday.

The final count is being watched closely in 10 of the province's 42 ridings, but elections in the past indicate first-count results will remain unchanged.

SIX RIDINGS

Six ridings with the greatest mathematical chances of change are: Grand Forks-Greenwood and New Westminster, which could be taken by the Socreds from the CCF; and Atlin, Skeena, South Peace River and Vancouver East, which could be taken by the CCF from the Socreds.

In Nanaimo, with the absentee count completed, Mayor Earle Westwood increased his majority over opposition parties, receiving 142 of the 312 ballots counted.

At Cowichan-Newcastle the count saw CCF leader Robert Strachan increase his majority with 277 of 530 ballots.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Ronald Joseph Dwyer, 133 Kingston, $40 and driver's licence suspension for careless driving.

Barry Edward Dusing, 930 Southgate, $25 for driving without a licence.

Rajinder Singh, 723 Market, $35 for careless driving, resulting in more than $300 damage in collision with another car at a crosswalk.

Maxwell John Morley, Camp Gordon Head, $25 for driving without a licence.

Maurice Vernon Leeson, 2835 Colquitz, $25 for driving without a licence.

Joseph Cedric Whyte, 713 Pembroke, $20 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, paced at 45-50.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is the area of Iceland and how does it compare with the area of Vancouver Island?

—H.L.C.

A. The area of Iceland is 39,758 square miles and a United Nations' estimate of its population in 1954 put it at 154,000. The area of Vancouver Island is computed at 12,408 square miles. The most recent estimate of this island's population, made by the Bureau of Economic Statistics a short time before the federal census of June, 1956, was 240,800. The officials are interestedly watching for the publication of the census figure, to observe how close to the census report their computation is.

FOUR-DAY MEDICAL CONVENTION OPENS

Doctors Men of Money? Read This

BY TONY DICKASON

Canada's doctors, who "just forget the old bills" aren't the heavy money-makers the public believes.

Authority for this is Dr. Renaud Lemieux of Quebec City, president of the 12,000-member Canadian Medical Association.

Average income of the average medical man—the meticulous doctor was quick to point out—there were no real averages—might be around $10,000 yearly.

"Only 8 per cent of persons making over $10,000 a year are doctors," said the gesturing president, here to attend the annual meeting of the B.C. division, Canadian Medical Association which started today in the Empress Hotel.

64-HOUR WEEK

Doctors work about 64 hours a week. Both in time and service costs they give "free" from 20 to 25 per cent.

"If medical men were paid for all the hours they work," said the 56-year-old CMA president, "it would be more equitable."

As well, because of high academic standings and time involved, doctors can figure on only 30 years, with luck, of gainful employment. They die sooner.

This is because of a rugged existence. In some age groups among the medical fraternity, chances of death are 50 per cent higher than counterparts in business and industry.

NO FRICTION

Dr. Lemieux, who is also head of the department of medicine,

Laval University, poo-pooed the suggestion friction existed between the CMA and French-speaking doctors who have their own association—memberships in both can be concurrent, as in his own case.

"There are many doctors in Canada who do not even belong to the CMA," he said, "about 5,000."

Trend towards medical studies among Canada's youth "has been high and strong" in the past few years. He said there could be a few more medical schools in the country.

At present Quebec has three, Ontario four, Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C. one each, totalling a round dozen.

In recognition of Canada's position in international medicine, he termed it "tops, outstanding, second to none."

While Canadian doctors are highly thought of in the United States "the numbers of doctors going down there to work are perhaps less than in some of the other professions."

ONE FOR 935

Canada's per capita ratio of doctors is as high as that of the U.S. or Great Britain, he said—one doctor here for every 935 persons. B.C. has the highest doctor quota of all the provinces: 750 persons for one medical practitioner.

While the trend to medical specialization is still heavy in Canada, the CMA-sponsored College of General Practitioners, started two years ago, will likely keep a balance in the fields, he said.

"There are still more general practitioners in Canada than specialists."

On state medicine, stand of the CMA, he said, is personal voluntary coverage—through such plans as MSA and MSI, which were CMA sponsored, with state assistance where necessary, as opposed to outright state control and state coverage.

HIGH LEVEL

"We have a healthy dynamic country in Canada and we think the medical profession should have the opportunity to develop with it along the same lines. We are getting a lot of doctors from England" (which has state medicine).

Medicine in Canada is at a high level for this reason, he went on, because it has had an opportunity to "breathe" here without controls.

On lack of advertising among the fraternity, Dr. Lemieux said it is one method of controlling the "unethical" doctor. If advertising was ethically allowed it would "open the way for quacks."

Advertising, as such, promoted business, and "you don't have to advertise if you are a good man." Lack of advertising aids in keeping standards high.

REPRESENTATIVE GROUP OF DOCTORS HERE

are among 100 from B.C. attending annual conference of B.C. division, Canadian Medical Association. Left to right: Dr. T. F. H. Armistage, North Vancouver; past president of B.C. division Dr. Frank Turnbull, Vancouver; Dr. W. J. Knox, 77, also a past president, graduate of Queen's University in 1903 and oldest member present, Kelowna; and Dr. H. C. Graham, member of North Vancouver School District medical board. Conference will last through Friday.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Jersey Shirts and Blouses
Are Pouring in for Fall

By PENNY SAVER

You've seen them in Vogue, Harper's and the other top fashion mags, and now you can see them right here in town. Jerseys for the smart young woman come in a solid black or in colorful stripes for dress and sportswear. A cardigan striped in red and black, gold or turquoise and black has long sleeves and a cuffed hood. This style adapts itself comfortably to the trend towards car coats. Priced at $3.98 they'll serve you well through the fall months and into winter. A black jersey pullover with hood has three-quarter sleeves, and costs $4.98. Another cardigan blouse in red or black has three-quarter sleeves and a large, heavy knit collar, right in the newest style. It's yours for $5.98.

The browns, oranges and leaf colors for fall call for jewelry that blends and becomes a part of the overall ensemble. You'll love the sporty yet very feminine leather jewelry that is keyed to casual living. Bracelets, in link style, are $3.50. Expansion styles of darker leather are slightly higher. Necklaces to go with your favorite sweaters are $2.95 and $3.95, and button earrings are $1.95.

Have you some Scottish blood in you? Do you know which clan? If you do, you'll like the attractive and cleverly designed clan crest pins that are selling in a local store. The coat-of-arms and motto are done in enamel on a silver background. You have a choice of MacArthur, Buchanan, MacLean, Cameron, Robertson, Fraser, MacKenzie, Gordon, MacGregor or Royal Stewart. All are priced at $1.

So many were interested in the Blue Willow candles I mentioned last week that I thought I'd tell you about some other novelty candles I found. Mikado candles with ornate dragons are $1.59 a pair. They come in green, brown or red. In a long cylinder are six slim candles to go with your flower arrangements. Fifteen inches long, these candles come in six assorted colors, and are 75 cents.

For information as to where to find any of the items mentioned in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll give you the names of the stores.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When Cold Strikes, Go to Bed—It's Safer

"Adolescence is when you think you will live forever. Middle age is when you wonder how you have lasted so long." —George Hart.

Fortunately every age has its advantages, even middle age and older years. For one thing, you have fewer colds as you grow older. That is a blessing but do not be fooled by it. Colds in the older person are more likely to be serious, to lead to complications if neglected.

If you do not take care of yourself your cold may pave the way for pneumonia or real gripe, acute sinus or mastoid infection and other serious conditions.

Due to an exaggerated sense of duty many men and women go about their work, either in their home or in an office, when they should be in bed. It seems foolish to run the risk of dangerous diseases when the old world can get along without any one of us, for a few days anyway. Your job will be there and your family will not fold up.

Also, you will have the heart-felt thanks of your co-workers and your family for not infecting them. One over-zealous worker can infect a whole office full of people; these in turn infect their families, and the children infect other school children. On and on it goes!

The medical profession takes a rather dim view of many of the familiar treatments for a cold. There is no known remedy which will shorten a virus cold. Doctors are loathe to use the antibiotics for every cold which comes along, even if they were effective, because they do not want to make you immune to the antibiotics. Some day it might be a question of life and death when you need them for something like pneumonia.

If you have a fever with your cold you should go to bed and call a doctor. He will tell you what to do.

In this column I often have urged my readers to take a day

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius (Reuters)—Princess Margaret today sailed westward across the Indian ocean to the spice-bearing island of Zanzibar, off the East African coast.

Lunatic Passenger, Cabin Fire Haunted B.C. Ship's Jinxed Trip

PORT HARDY (CP)—The grounding of the Union Steamships vessel Cardena Sunday night was the climax of a trip beset by troubles, crew members said today.

An eccentric passenger and a fire were part of the bad luck that jinxed the Cardena on what was to have been the last trip before a winter layover and drydocking.

Today, the Cardena, only "slightly damaged" after being grounded at Duval Point on Vancouver Island's northeast coast, is being towed to Vancouver. Another Union vessel will pick up its passengers, taken off at Port Hardy.

The passenger ran amok early Sunday, smashing furnishings and holding crew mem-

COMMUNITY CHEST THERMOMETER

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The 2,270-ton British cargo ship Hendrik went aground in the Suez Canal today, delaying shipping until it was freed about 30 minutes later.

The mishap occurred about 30 miles south of Port Said. A tug dragged the Hendrik clear. It was the first time a ship has gone aground in the canal since Egyptian pilots took over the piloting duties over two weeks ago.

The Hendrik was part of a convoy of 14 ships which left Port Said at 2 a.m. Another ship left Port Said about noon and 21 were en route to the Mediterranean from Suez.

Passing cargo ships through the canal is a tricky business, and such mishaps were not uncommon even when the old international Suez Canal Company pilots were in charge of the operation.

PORT SAID (Reuters)—A Russian pilot took a ship through the Suez Canal unaided for the first time today.

Four Russian pilots, training as pilots under the Egyptian canal authority, wrote their examinations Monday.

Two more American sea captains arrived in Port Said Monday to start training as canal pilots.

Westerners Lining Up Behind Diefenbaker

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—John Diefenbaker, veteran Saskatchewan MP, emerged today as the strong favorite to succeed George Drew as national leader of the Conservative party.

Duff Roblin, leader of the Manitoba Progressive Conservatives, will campaign vigorously in support of Mr. Diefenbaker, adding his weight to the "Diefenbaker for Leader" bandwagon that is off and rolling with increasing momentum.

Mr. Roblin told The Victoria Times today, just before the national executive meeting of the party opened, that he was supporting Diefenbaker and working for him. Mr. Roblin, who has been mentioned as a possible "dark horse" candidate, said emphatically that he would not be a candidate for the leadership at the party's national convention.

E. David Fulton, brilliant young MP from Kamloops, is expected to be in the leadership race but western executive members believe that most of the western support would go to the popular Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Diefenbaker declined comment today on the leadership race.

But he left no doubt in the minds of newspapermen that if the Conservatives make it apparent in no uncertain terms that they want him for the leadership, he will be available.

It was apparent here today that Mr. Diefenbaker was a prime favorite with many Conservative leaders. He will take an early lead in the leadership race, but whether he can hold that lead at the convention remains to be seen.

CAUTIOUS
Conservative MPs and members of the national executive, when pressed for an opinion on the leadership, gave cautious replies. But it appeared that Mr. Diefenbaker will receive considerable support from British Columbia and the three Prairie provinces as well as the Maritimes.

In Ontario there is sharp division over the popularity of Mr. Diefenbaker versus Donald Fleming, MP for Toronto; Eglington, and George Hees, MP for Toronto-Broadview. Quebec delegates were keeping mum at this stage.

Distillers' Charges To LCB Hiked 15%

B.C. hard liquor drinkers can expect price increases of up to 16½ per cent shortly.

B.C. Liquor Control Board today was notified of new prices by the House of Seagram and Alberta Distillers Ltd.

Increases quoted average 15 per cent but, because of the federal sales tax paid by the Liquor Control Board, actual increase cost to the board will be 16½ per cent. New prices cover all brands, including rye, rum, Scotch and gin.

Amount of the increase to be passed on to the consumer has not been decided.

Board cost accountants are working on the new prices today.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

While only Seagram's and Alberta Distillers have submitted new prices so far, it is expected other major distilleries will follow suit.

If the full distillery price increase is passed on to the consumer, a bottle of hard liquor currently retailing at $4 would cost $4.66, plus provincial sales tax of 5 per cent.

Liquor Board officials said the new distillers' prices are effective immediately.

It is not known when the raised prices to the consumer will be effective.

New B.C. Road 'Spectacular'

QUEBEC (CP)—More than half the Trans-Canada Highway route now is paved and clearing of a "spectacular" stretch through the mountainous interior of British Columbia will begin next year, the annual convention of Canadian Good Roads Association was told today.

A progress report on the highway was presented by G. B. Williams, chief engineer of the development engineering branch of the federal public works department.

The Rogers Pass route, between Golden and Revelstoke, B.C., now has been designated part of the highway and "will doubtless prove to be one of the most spectacular drives."

Of this 90-mile stretch, some 28 miles to be constructed by the federal government will pass through Glacier National Park and nine miles through Revelstoke National Park. It is planned to start clearing and grubbing next year, with heavy construction the year after.

One of the major problems in this section is avalanche control, he said. Extensive studies of snow and avalanche conditions are under way and research laboratories are being established. Experiments in methods of avalanche control are also being conducted.

Offers to Buy Tax-Seized RC Schools

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—R. C. MacDonald, municipalities minister under British Columbia's former coalition government, has offered $15,000 for three Roman Catholic parochial schools threatened with seizure by neighboring Coquitlam municipality.

Reeve James Christmas of Coquitlam said the cheque was deposited with the municipal clerk Monday.

The municipality, 22 miles east of Vancouver, announced it is empowered to take title to the schools because they are in arrears of $10,000 on taxes. Deadline for payment of the taxes was Sept. 30.

Doctors Hit BCHIS Policy on Cortisone

The public and medical profession are entitled to an explanation from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service for continuing restrictions of essential drugs such as cortisone, Dr. Frank Turnbull, chairman of the liaison committee, B.C. division, Canadian Medical Association, said here today.

He told delegates to the division conference in Empress Hotel clarification was needed now.

Dr. Turnbull said also the provincial government should make its stand clear on development of such basic services as pathology in hospitals of rapidly-growing communities.

"It is important," he said, "for us to procure statements of policy from the minister and from the deputy ministers."

Apart from these points, Dr. Turnbull said, "our relationships with the government are satisfactory and harmonious."

He spoke on behalf of 1,600 members of the CMA in B.C.

'Shack-Town' Vote Riles C of C Head

Anti-Incorporation Decision at Langford Regressive Action, Declares Colwood Man

The unorganized territory of Langford, Colwood, View Royal and Glen Lake will never have anything but "shack towns" unless they incorporate, Archie McIntyre, Chamber of Commerce president, said today.

Disappointed by a Colwood and Districts chamber decision Monday night to suspend incorporation planning, he said:

"It is one of the most regressive actions ever taken by any community. They have stultified progress for the next five years at least."

At a meeting of the chamber at Langford Community Hall, a vote was passed to postpone investigations into incorporation for at least six months.

HALF PRESENT

"It was done by a few members of the chamber. Only half the members were present," said the chairman.

He denied earlier reports that "irate residents who wanted to attend were turned away and that occupants of an estimated 40 cars milled around the hall."

"That is a deliberate falsehood," said Mr. McIntyre. "A few came and went away quietly."

He said the main complaint of members opposed to incorporation moves was that the public had been given distorted facts. "The general idea in people's minds was that the chamber was trying to impose incorporation on the people."

RAISE PETITION

Mr. McIntyre pointed out that all the chamber could do was organize public meetings and attempt to raise a petition. The petition would require signatures of a majority of landowners and would ask the provincial government to conduct a poll.

"They would still have to vote for it," he said.

"Now they have tied our hands. We can't even hold public meetings."

He said the step toward incorporation should have been taken years ago.

"They'll never have anything but shack towns if they keep on the way they are going."

One member of the chamber used Saanich's current difficulties in completing sewer programs as an argument against incorporation.

"That doesn't have to happen here," said Mr. McIntyre. "It could be taken as an object lesson. Past councils in Saanich have tried to do too much in too short a period, with a lack of planning."

LIKE BUSH

"There are still too many people, (in the unorganized territories) who are afraid of restrictions. They want to live out in the bush."

To these he said: "There does not have to be too many restrictions."

"If the people would incorporate they would add prestige, command far more respect, and more people would be willing to move into the area if the services which come with incorporation were available."

Mr. McIntyre said he felt most residents opposed to incorporation were really opposed to paying for the services the district requires. At the same time, he said, no mortgage

B.C. LUMBER EXPORTS DROP 30%

VANCOUVER (UP) — Exports of lumber from British Columbia dropped more than 30 per cent in the first eight months of this year, Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau revealed today.

Exports to the United Kingdom were off more than 50 per cent.
